The major objective of our presentation will be to convince OSHA that the stringency of the proposed permanent standard is neither necessary, reasonable nor economically feasible and that a modified, time related reduction of vinyl chloride exposure will serve the best interests of both the employees and the industry. We are in agreement with the industry consensus that the proposed permanent standard, if adopted in the present form, would result in a shutdown of the PVC industry with severe effects upon both labor and our national economy.

Very truly yours,

UNIROYAL, Inc.
