Samantha,

Please forgive the lateness of this message and I certainly do not expect a response tonight, but my day tomorrow will be challenging, so I wanted to get this to you tonight, late though it may be.

I have been invited to DC to attend a diplomatic function on Saturday, April 29. I would greatly appreciate a possible meeting with you perhaps on Friday, April 28, at anytime that might be convenient for you. I would prefer an offsite meeting not necessarily related to my objectives indicated in my earlier email on April 3, but am open to your preferences.

My cell number is [Personal Phone/Ex. 6]

Sincerely,

Dennis
