Subject: NYT questions

Sir,

Via twitter, I have discovered that your agency has failed to respond to questions posed by the NYT. I have attached your agency's OUTRAGEOUS UNACCEPTABLE RESPONSE.

Your agency works for the people of this country. My tax dollars pay for your employment and the agency. I demand that you respond to their questions and post an apology. One of the only ways the people of this country obtain information about our government is via THE FREE PRESS which is the cornerstone of our democracy.

Please advise me in writing as to if your agency will respond to the NYT PROVIDING INFORMATION THAT THEY ASK. The people of this country do not want nor need your agency's opinions of the free press. You are violating my Constitutional rights and everyone else's in the country by failing to respond. I anxiously await your response.

Thank you

The E.P.A. and Dr. Beck declined repeated requests to comment that included detailed lists of questions.

“No matter how much information we give you, you would never write a fair piece,” Liz Bowman, a spokeswoman for the E.P.A., said in an email. “The only thing inappropriate and biased is your continued fixation on writing elitist clickbait trying to attack qualified professionals committed to serving their country.”
