This contest consists of an examination It is based on studies made by the students from material supplied through the American Association for the United Nations

Study kits have been distributed to the youngsters containing the information upon which the examination is based. The material covers the purpose of the organization, its ideals and goals, its structure, associated bodies, how it functions, and all the other pertinent information about UN

The students themselves had to ask for the privilege of entering the contest, but they did so through the faculties of their respective schools

The contest is conducted annually. It is sponsored jointly by the American Association for the United Nations and the National Broadcasting Company.
