Patsy, my preference would be the week of Oct. 30th. The later we get into Nov. the more difficult scheduling becomes.

Gentlemen,

Richard has suggested the 1st week in November, 2005 for the Shanghai Health Study annual meeting in Shanghai. Is this agreeable with you? We should confirm that we are agreeing the week of Oct 30 - Nov 4, with the meeting starting on Tuesday, Nov 1. Or are we considering the week commencing Nov 7, with the meeting starting on Tuesday, Nov 8. My preference is the week of Oct 30, however, either is fine.

Regards,

Patsy

Dear Patsy,

The best time for me would be the first week in November, 2005.

Jane Liu is my administrative assistant in Shanghai. She is a very good resource for information and advice on "where, how, why, when and how much? However, she doesn't have sufficient time to make all of the arrangements. We would need additional help. My rule of thumb is in China time it takes 3X the amount of time required in the US to get anything done, and it is the same with personnel!

Best regards,

Richard

Subject: 2005 Shanghai Health Study Annual Meeting in Shanghai

Gentlemen,

The BHRC (Benzene Health Research Consortium) is very excited about coming to Shanghai for the annual meeting in 2005. We are asking for your help for two things.

1. The date for the 2005 meeting. We are proposing to meet either the last week of September or the first week in November. We are not considering the month of October because of religious holidays that could preclude some from attending. Would you please discuss amongst yourselves and confirm back to me your choice of dates. We would like to be able to announce the 2005 meeting dates at our 2004 meeting this August (invitations will be sent very soon).

2. Contact person in China. To facilitate planning for the 2005 meeting in Shanghai, we would appreciate it if you would name a focal point. This person would assist API and the consortium in making meeting arrangements, such as a location.

Thank You in advance for your assistance.

Regards,

Patsy

Patsy Clegg, Shell Chemicals
Shanghai Health Study Annual Meeting
Fairfax Virginia, November 2005

Opening:

Hello there. It's great to see all of you again as we share our progress and insights into this vital project.

First of all, I'd like to thank Exxon Mobil for hosting our third annual meeting here on this beautiful campus. Personally, I'm trying to rein in the urge to go prowl the halls and admire the artwork, which is truly impressive. I know we all appreciate Exxon Mobil's generosity in making these facilities available to us.

This year, we have expanded the agenda to include more time for discussion, including more Q&A's after each presentation. Also, at the end of the day, we'll gather all our presenters to participate in a mass grilling – I mean panel discussion.

Afterward we're in for a real treat – dinner at the Peking Duck. Esquire Magazine described the restaurant's duck as "Edible moments of ecstasy..." Hmm! Sounds good to me.

Right now though, let's get started...

Closing on the second day:

I hope this has been as stimulating (or adjectives of choice) _____ and _____ (productive) for all of you as it has been for me.

Looking back over the last two days, what really stands out in my mind is/are

Based upon what we've heard, it seems that _____
_____.

One (or more) important thing(s) to remember is/are _____
_____.

In closing, I'd like to again thank the Exxon Mobil folks for their generosity and hospitality, which have contributed greatly to the (success) _____ and (productivity) _____ of this meeting.

I'd also like to personally thank each and every one of you for devoting your time and immense talent to this project. Thanks to you, we continue to move forward toward the successful conclusion of this essential study.

Thank you all. I look forward to meeting up again tomorrow at the symposium.
