TBD Roundtable with NSW Government on Cooperative Federalism

Last updated 7/12/2017 5:36:43 PM

Location: TBD

Notes:

- Closed-door roundtable meeting format
- Focus on federal vs. state relationship and “push-pull” including on environmental issues
- Suggested participants:
 - Minister Gabrielle Upton, NSW Minister for the Environment, Minister for Heritage, and Minister for Local Government
 - Minister Don Harwin MLC, Minister for Resources, Minister for Energy and Utilities and Minister for the Arts.
 - Vic McGrath (from Thursday Island in the Torres Strait) has held several positions on ministerial advisory committees to the Australian and Queensland Governments including Indigenous Protected Areas, the Arts and a range of Environmental Management issues. He is highly regarded at the community level as well as within government and scientific circles for his unique ability to effortlessly transverse cultural, scientific and governance domains.
 - Christine Covington, solicitor of the Supreme Court of NSW and on the board of the NSW EPA. She is currently the National Practice Group Leader of the Environment and Planning Group at the law firm, Corrs Chambers Westgarth. She has served as a NSW Government appointee to the Central Sydney Planning Committee. She has extensive experience in the NSW Land and Environment Court and the Supreme Court in planning appeals and environmental prosecutions.
 - Julie Savet Ward, on the board of the NSW EPA and is a Fellow of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. Ms Savet Ward has particular expertise in the regulatory environment for sustainability and a deep understanding of the planning, approval, design, construction and delivery of infrastructure, property and natural resource projects. She has particular skills in brokering and managing relationships between government and the community.
 - Dr. Diana Day, non-executive Director of Sydney Water and Adjunct Professor at the University of NSW Global Water Institute. Dr. Day is a company director of federal and state statutory authorities, businesses, universities and not for-profit boards. As a physical and social scientist and educator, she has held senior academic and public sector roles in water and environmental management. In these roles she worked on addressing water quality and security challenges in power development, mining, rural, riverine and metropolitan contexts.

internationally. This includes both the design and evaluation of programs for improving resource use efficiency and an assessment of their impact. Professor White has written and presented widely on sustainable futures and is a regular commentator on sustainability issues in the media. The $2bn redevelopment of the Old Kent Brewery site on Broadway in Sydney is one of Australia's most successful examples of green urban regeneration. The University of Technology Sydney ISF was a key partner of Frasers Property in identifying sustainability opportunities for the site. ISF assisted in developing the Frasers Broadway Precinct Water Cycle Strategy to plan significant reductions in overall energy use, water use and solid waste.

Notes:

- Meeting with NSW government and public/private entities on how Australia keeps Sydney Harbour clean and “trash-free”
- To include tour of harbor
- No media but PAS and EPA Press Team will likely take photo spray and engage in social media
- Suggested participants:
 - Ian Kiernan, Clean Up: Ian competed in the solo around-the-world yacht race in 1987 and after seeing littered harbors he was inspired to start an NGO and was the inspiration for “Clean Up Australia Day.” Ian gained traction with the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), and Clean Up the World was launched in 1993 and has inspired approximately 35 million people from 120 countries annually.
 - Kim McKay AO, Clean Up Sydney Harbour: McKay is the Director and CEO of the Australian Museum, prior Senior Vice President of Global Marketing & Communications for the Discovery Channel and National Geographic in the United States, co-founded the iconic Clean Up Australia and Clean Up the World campaigns, was named one of Australia's 100 Women of Influence by the Australian Financial Review, and co-author of five books.
 - Dr. Peter Steinberg, Sydney Institute of Marine Science (SIMS): SIMS is home to the World Harbour Project, which facilitates research projects across major urban harbors around the world. There are two U.S. partners, Chesapeake Bay and New York Harbor. The New York Harbor has a program linking high school students in the United States and Australia through a “Virtual Environmental Partnership” investigating the sustainability of each school's local water cycle, sponsored by the State Department and the Australian Department of Education.
