Schnare, Former Transition Official, On His Departure, EPA Climate Science Review

David Schnare, the former EPA transition official who wrote this article, left the agency earlier this year over concerns about infighting among administration appointees and Administrator Scott Pruitt's alleged lack of engagement. In it, his first since departing the agency, he discusses his reasons for leaving and his views on EPA's upcoming climate science review. The views expressed here are his.

Former EPA Transition Official Questions Pruitt's Plan For Climate Debate

A former Trump EPA transition team official is taking issue with EPA Administrator Scott Pruitt's plans to conduct a "red team, blue team" debate of climate change science, arguing the approach would politicize the issue, is outside of EPA's authority and would result in too shallow of a critique of mainstream findings that human-released greenhouse gases are the primary cause of global warming.
