PCB -- INCINERATION LABELS

bcc: P. S. Park

Mr. C. Paton
B2SC

In connection with our telephone conversation of today's date, the following are my comments with respect to the label to be used on products returned to Monsanto for incineration:

1. It is my understanding that the reason why four languages are used on this label rather than the eight languages used on the original PCB labels is due to the fact that only the countries which use these four languages will be returning material. This fact should be substantiated, and if not true, the label should be expanded to cover those countries which might be affected.

2. The spacing of the warning statements in the enclosed boxes should be improved; specifically, the sentence beginning with "HARMFUL SUBSTANCE..." should be either all on one line or the last portion of that sentence should be brought back to the margin and the following sentence beginning with "CAUSES IRRITATION..." should begin on the next line at the margin.

Returned herewith is the sample of the label you forwarded to John Stapleton.
