

main focus is to get API to agree to sponsor via API dues allocation or a one-time assessment. Do we think we can persuade oil products to help co-sponsor? We have expectations that grant money from, for example, NCI, the Leukemia Society, etc will be available as the study progresses. It is just going to be critical to find additional sponsors and grant money, or the current sponsors will be faced with some hard decisions - like reducing the scope of the study or providing additional monies. I'll keep you informed.
