Subject: Press release for "Widespread Praise for Dr. Michael Dourson"

To whom it may concern,

This comment is with regard to the press release: "Widespread Praise for Dr. Michael Dourson." I suggest making an honest assessment instead of only providing "accolades" from his friends and people he goes to church with.

He has a pretty clear conflict of interest with a lot of his former work. I think there are a lot of other experts not praising his nomination. Indeed, I would argue the vast majority of experts do not praise his nomination to that particular post. Dr. Dourson has worked hard for chemical companies to downplay health risks of dangerous chemicals.

The press release seems very misleading and unbecoming of the EPA, who's interests are arguably quite different from those that have been pursued by Dr. Dourson.

Patrick McCarthy
