"Not touched by any other combination"

THREE wins on a 12-inch German ring target—10 shots each at 200 yards—will take the trophy offered by Captain Crossman at the Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club.

At 200 yards the one-and-a-half inch 25 center of the German ring target is a mighty small thing to hit. Yet Lewis F. Reed in competing for the Crossman Trophy placed three shots well within the 25 ring and three more in the 24 ring. Mr. Reed already has two legs up with scores of 224 and 232, made with US .22 N. R. A. in a model .22 Springfield.

Mr. Crossman, internationally known rifle expert, says: "These scores have not been touched by any other combination."

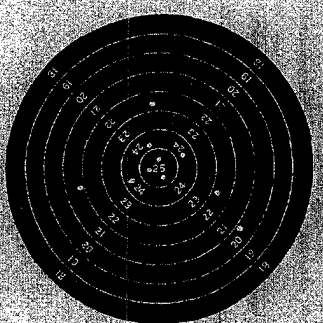

In a letter, Mr. Reed writes: "I have used nothing but US .22 N. R. A. in match shooting for the last two years, and while I try out every new kind of ammunition that comes out, I always shoot US when I want the best score possible."

Mr. Reed's views on US .22 N. R. A., are shared by the stars of the shooting world, both in this country and Europe. Record scores, continuously, are its record.

There's nothing like its accuracy; its uniformity is unsurpassed. Shoot US .22 N. R. A.
