Ryan,

Andrew Littlefair, the President and CEO of Clean Energy Fuels, would like to meet with EPA Administrator Pruitt to discuss some recent advancements in terms of natural gas vehicles. Clean Energy is the largest provider in North America of natural gas used as a transportation fuel. As you know, natural gas is now used as a transportation fuel in motor vehicles, railroad locomotives, and in marine vessels.

Andrew and T. Boone Pickens founded Clean Energy nearly two decades ago. Andrew has been a leader in the natural gas vehicle industry, having served as the former Chairman of Natural Gas Vehicle America (NGVA), the industry trade association.

Recognizing how busy the Administrator's schedule is, Andrew would be willing to come to Washington for a meeting with him at the Administrator's convenience.

If I need to be submitting the meeting request through another person in your office, or through an email portal, please let me know. Thanks again for your help!

Best.
Scott
