Dear Lee:

The Port Allegany Plant survey report is enclosed. As you will see, my opinion based on the data obtained is that a redesign of the exhaust system is in order. I am fully aware of the future efforts associated with this recommendation but cannot reach any other conclusion in view of the measures taken to ensure that the system was operating at high efficiency during my survey. Thus, at best performance, it is just not good enough.

In accordance with your request, the report does not dwell on design aspects because our purpose was to determine where we stand at present.

Sincerely yours,

Morton Corn
