TO : D. ARMSTRONG - KRUMMRICH

Sometime ago, you inquired regarding whether we should have TCC stability goals for products other than Aroclor 1242. Paul Benignus' answer is, "No". You also inquired regarding the need for a continuing competitive testing program. There is a need, but according to Paul Benignus this is being handled adequately by the Research Department and no plant effort is required.

Sorry we took so long to answer your questions.
