The plan to contact Gail sounds OK.

Sorry to hear we are back to the search mode

All,

Bad news. Kristin Hover has taken a job with a pharmaceutical company and is no longer doing consulting QA/QC work. Kris said it will be difficult to find people with Epi experience. Kris did give me a name (Sharon Nemmers) but indicated she does not like to travel outside the US.

Jerry Rice has been informed about this development and I will contact HEI to see if they have experience with other (traveling) QA consultants.

I would like to call Gail Jorgensen and start working with her (non-contract for now) on a "data-flow" diagram. From there we can start pin-pointing tasks that need doing and finding people to do them. Does that seem worthwhile to you?
