Dear Sir:

It is our understanding you have done considerable research in connection with the possible health or dermatitis hazard from handling ethyl gasoline. I am referring particularly to gasoline treated with the ethyl fluid rather than the fluid itself, and if you have any information you can give us in connection with this hazard and suggestions for its control, your advices will be much appreciated.

We have written the U. S. Department of Labor at Washington, and they have sent us a reprint of the March 1926 Labor Review which suggests a definite hazard. If you know of any later reports, kindly advise.

Yours very truly
