Subject: Meeting with Repsol -- RCRA's treatment of oil and gas waste

Ryan -

I hope that things are well at EPA. My firm represents Repsol, a Spanish-based oil and gas company with significant operations in Alaska, Pennsylvania and Texas, among other states. In March, Repsol and Armstrong Energy announced the discovery of 1.2 billion barrels of oil on Alaska's North Slope, the largest US onshore conventional discovery in 30 years.

I wanted to see if you and Administrator Pruitt may have some time to meet with Walt Hufford, Repsol's Director of US relations, regarding RCRA's treatment of oil and gas waste. Walt was previously the only industry representative on EPA's Scientific Advisory Board committee that examined the agency's study on hydraulic fracturing's impact on drinking water. He is also a board member of STRONGER (State Review of Oil and Natural Gas Environmental Regulations).

Walt is in DC quite a bit so we can work around you and the Administrator's schedules.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Andrew
