A Yes.

Q Okay. What the investigators did was they sort of did a systematic evaluation of the four different shipyards to determine whether there was a problem with respect to asbestos in those shipyards?

A It was certainly a systematic study with some limitations we have talked about.

Q Okay. And the authors -- there was a lot of detail in the report as to how asbestos was used in a shipyard and what different products were used.

Would you agree with that?

A Yes.

Q And they also discuss some of the precautions that were in effect back in 1946?

A Yes, they did.

Q Doctor, you are aware that in 1943 there were some minimal requirements of safety that were published for use in shipyards?

A Yes, I am.

Q And among the things that were discussed in those minimum safety requirements for Navy shipyards
