I am not saying that is necessarily true, but I am saying that is a possibility.

Q Would it be fair to say that this is a relatively new concept?

A Well, I think translocation is relatively new. Although it has been around since 1970 when Sebastian first published it.

Q I guess what I am really getting at is, is it your opinion that there remains a fair amount of work to be done in this area before you would be able to express a firm opinion on it?

A I think all of the major asbestos types cause mesothelioma. I think there is still a lot to be done with respect to figuring out individual toxicity of fiber types with respect to causation and what is most important.

Is the asbestos in the pleura that is most important or is it the asbestos in the lung tissue that is most important?

Q Just so we are clear for the jury, in the Grewe case, you actually didn't have any lung
