Menjou presided at one session. Robert Taylor at another. One of the speakers, incidentally, was my friend, Roy Brewer, West Coast leader of the AFL stagehands and motion picture union alliance.

A fast check disclosed that the AFL chiefs there and even some CIO officials co-operated with the MPA. A transcript of some of the speeches shows that the audiences were urged to distinguish between honest liberalism, grass root radicalism, and Commie activity.

But you'll hear a lot about "the Fascists, anti-Semites, labor baiters and wife beaters" who, for the first time, are speaking up and fighting back against the Comrades in an organized fashion.

Hollywood's pro-Communist contingent might well be worried. The movie colony has been the comrades' most successful base. There the left-wingers have dug up the glamour for their sucker-bait parties; the money for their campaigns; the stars for their political rallies, and the Broadway-wise writers for their propaganda.

That's all being threatened now. There'll be thunder on the left. And mud, too.
