Subject: RE: Shanghai Benzene Study - Follow-up

Patsy,

Thank you for your note. I have spoken to Glenn about this matter. We have not yet discussed this subject with Jim Pannell in PACE. As I mentioned in my voice mail message to you, there may be a couple of opportunities to meet with Jim in the next couple of weeks. Jim will be in Houston next week and he may be able to meet for an hour or so on the morning of Thursday, February 27th. Alternatively, Glenn and I are planning to meet with Jim in Nashville on Monday, March 3rd. There may be a way to block out an hour for this discussion during our visit on March 3rd.

I recognize that it may be premature to meet with Jim given the concerns related to funding that you have outlined below. Nevertheless, if you are interested in proceeding with this discussion, let me know and I can see if Jim will be available on either February 27th or March 3rd. Glenn and I very much want to assist you in any way possible in engaging PACE on this subject.

Please let me know if you have any questions or wish to discuss this further.

Regards,

Subject: Shanghai Benzene Study - Follow-up

David,

Thank you again for meeting with me to discuss engaging with organized labor on the Shanghai Benzene Study. As I recall, you agreed to brief your manager, Glen Gilcrest, and ask that he contact Jim Pannell, VP at PACE, requesting an opportunity to present information on the study. I agreed to send you some materials. Those are attached.

One item of concern. The study is not yet fully funded, so we are at a point where additional monies have to be found or the project is potentially compromised. Therefore, we might want to wait until the first of April to progress contact with PACE. The consortium will be going to API requesting funding in March. Hopefully, if that goes well, then we can fast-forward on plans to engage NGOs.
