Dear John:

I have your letter of February 18th under the above subject. I assume that you read the letter of January 23rd which I wrote to Mr. Marlan.

The only point of the four which you raise which I think requires additional comment other than made before was to say that the point was specifically discussed with Mr. Mature and Mr. George, the Plant Manager, and they insist that Mr. Mature was only shown 150 pieces, and that he specifically asked whether there was other material and was told there was not.

As was covered in some detail in the January 23rd letter, it is felt that a credit of $214.33 is the extent to which Bestwall can assume any responsibility. If you choose to deduct the balance from the next remittance, I can only say what I have mentioned over the telephone in the past and also written to Joe that continued deductions on the part of J-M on payments to Bestwall which are not authorized only aggravates any consideration of overall adjustments that are being continually raised. If J-M chooses to make unauthorized deductions means will have to be investigated whereby Bestwall has some recourse to regain the moneys which are rightfully due.

Very truly yours,

C. E. Abbey
