A It doesn't.

Q It doesn't. When did you first realize that your report didn't reflect that information?

A When I went to photograph the case.

Q Okay. And that was sometime in the spring of 1996?

A Yes, that would be fair.

Q Do you recall why your report doesn't reflect the pleural plaque that you showed the jury the morning?

A I can't answer that question. I think that perhaps it escaped my attention because I was interested in determining the nature of the cells that were present.

As you see, I go on and on and on and on about all of the different stains for the better part of -- well, certainly a third of a page, and I was bound up in this and did not answer that question.

Q Okay. When the plaintiffs first sent you the tissue samples and you took a look at it and wrote a report, you were concentrating on the diagnosis end
