Doctor Brean Loses Fight Over Alimony

Dr. Henry P. Brean, Berkeley radiologist, on a volunteer government mission to Sierra Leone, is going to have to get along on $100 a month.

His wife, Edna, 43, who is divorcing him, went into court yesterday and got an order restoring $600 alimony and $300 child support. The alimony was cut off two weeks ago when Mrs. Brean moved into the family home at 1117 Euclid Ave., Berkeley.

Dr. Brean, 46, claimed that his medical mission to Africa would cut his income to $1,000 a month and he had rented out the family home to help him pay the alimony and child support. But when he took off for Africa, Mrs. Brean stepped in and claimed the house.

Attorney Myron Harris disputed Brean's claim that his income dropped from $36,000 a year to $1,000 a month and told the court that the doctor has additional income from two Berkeley hospitals.

The dispute over occupancy of the home was heard by Judge Ralph McGee of Amador County, sitting in Alameda County.
