Dear Dr. Kehoe:

Herewith is copy of letter from the attorneys representing General Motors Research Corporation and ourselves in the claims made by people at Dayton based upon alleged injuries arising out of the blending plant there, regarding suggested examination of Mr. [REDACTED]

Our attorneys recently had the suits which were brought in the U. S. District Court at Dayton dismissed and our best information is that the decision of the court was that they were covered by the Workmen's Compensation Law and that they had no remedy at common law.

As you know, we have been paying Ross something right along and do not intend taking any arbitrary stand just because of this favorable decision, although we do rather strongly feel that we are being imposed upon by [REDACTED] and that he could work if he wanted to. However, you will note that Mr. Cowden has thought it advisable to have an examination of him made by you and Dr. Brower.

Mr. McEvoy, who is, in addition to the title referred to in the letter, also the General Attorney for General Motors, is agreeable to such examination and wanted to know my viewpoint. I wired him and also Mr. Cowden that I thought it was a good plan in order that we might have the best and up to date information as to his physical condition.

I presume that Mr. Cowden will communicate with you regarding this subject and hope that an agreeable appointment to suit your convenience can be arranged.

Yours very truly,
