TO: Vinyl Institute Members DATE: June 6, 1994
FROM: Bob Burnett COPIES:
SUBJECT: Directory of Companies Involved in the Recycling of Vinyl (PVC) Plastics
 (Third Edition)

As we say in the vinyl industry, "Vinyl is being recycled," and now we have a directory to prove it.

The third edition of the Directory of Companies Involved in the Recycling of Vinyl (PVC) Plastics has been completed and 100 complimentary copies are being shipped to your company's board member, along with my encouragement to share it with your sales staff and customers. You may also find it useful in communicating that vinyl is being recycled to your local community groups.

Please see your board representative if you would like additional copies for your use. Copies are also available through Pat Benkner at the Vinyl Institute for $1 each.

Bob

Directory of Companies Involved in the Recycling of Vinyl (PVC) Plastics

Third Edition • May 1994

CTL028844

This directory has been prepared by the Vinyl Institute as a service to its members, their customers and others interested in recycling vinyl plastics. It is based on solicitation of recycling companies and brokers and is believed to be accurate. All companies listed in this directory have reviewed and approved the information about their company and have agreed to their listing in this directory. However, no warranty or guaranty, expressed or implied, is made as to the accuracy or completeness of the information provided herein and neither the Vinyl Institute nor its members or contributors assume any responsibility for the accuracy or completeness of the information contained herein.

The Vinyl Institute is a national trade association representing the leading manufacturers of vinyl (polyvinyl chloride or PVC) plastics, as well as makers of vinyl feedstocks, additives, and film and sheet products. The Institute is a division of The Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc. and is headquartered in Morristown, New Jersey. The Institute was established in 1982, with a dual charter to promote and protect the growth of the vinyl industry. It maintains an active program of technical research designed to help integrate vinyl products into all phases of the solid waste management process, and also operates an information center to answer questions about vinyl and the environment. To reach the Vinyl Environmental Resource Center, call 1-800-969-VINYL (8469).

The listings on the following pages are arranged alphabetically by state for the U.S. and by province for Canada. The matrix shows each company's processing capabilities, the type of scrap it accepts and the form in which it accepts it. If there is a marking in the "Other" columns, please refer to the pages following the matrix, where you'll find all of the companies listed alphabetically by company name. The markings in these columns indicate that the company offers additional services not listed in the matrix. You'll also find each company's address, phone and fax numbers, and contact person(s) in this section.

Please note that there are no listings for some states. In such cases, refer to companies in surrounding states that accept the type of vinyl scrap you have or refer to companies that broker vinyl material. Often times, regardless of their location, companies will handle vinyl scrap material throughout the U.S. and Canada.

If you would like to be listed in future editions of this directory, please contact:

The Vinyl Environmental Resource Center (VERCE) was established in 1991 to answer questions regarding vinyl's environmental performance and provide accurate referrals when appropriate.

Additional information available from VERCE includes:

- The impact of vinyl products on the environment.
- Vinyl's health and safety effects.
- Where and how to recycle vinyl.
- Vinyl's fire performance properties.
- Markets for recycled vinyl.
- Other options for managing post-consumer vinyl waste.

The hotline is staffed Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST. A message system will handle your call during off hours.

To reach the Vinyl Environmental Resource Center, call 1-800-969-VINYL (8469), or write One Cascade Plaza, 19th Floor, Akron, OH 44308.
