Where Oriental Stucco May Be Used

Oriental Stucco may be applied over metal lath, tile, brick or concrete. It is well suited for overcoating old cement stucco walls, masonry surfaces, and the walls of frame buildings.

The successful use of Oriental Stucco is not confined to any particular section. It has been used on outstanding jobs in localities where severe temperature changes are common; and in districts having alternating dry and rainy seasons.

Oriental Stucco offers a wide variety of textures and colors. Thus it appeals to the artistic sense of every discriminating builder.

The use of USG Oriental Stucco is the builders assurance of color uniformity. And with Oriental Stucco the builder can reproduce all the beauty and durability of famous Old World stuccos that have lasted for centuries.

Period Textures

Any desired period texture may be reproduced in the colors of Oriental Stucco. English, French, Spanish, Greek, Mediterranean, Italian, Modern European, Colonial, Modern American, California Mission and Modern California period textures can be obtained with Oriental Stucco.

In addition to the period textures, Oriental Stucco offers unlimited possibilities for individual expressions of taste in finishes and color effects in homes and buildings of all types.

For Schools and Colleges

The soft hues and textures of Oriental Stucco are well suited to school and college buildings.

Oriental Stucco affords a great diversity of architectural treatment on new construction and old building restoration.

A very pleasing effect may be obtained by selecting a stucco that harmonizes with the background of trees, vines, and shrubbery and the general atmosphere of the grounds or campus.

A Ready-Mixed Stucco

Oriental Stucco is a ready-mixed stucco, made of the finest materials, and is delivered to the builder in the exact proportions for use. It is the only stucco that can be applied directly from the bucket, without the addition of any other material.

Because the Oriental Stucco is made of the finest materials, it is the only stucco that can be applied directly from the bucket, without the addition of any other material.
