

UNDER SECRETARY FOR MINES.

Inspector Boyland's latest report on the ventilation of Australian Blue Asbestos mine and plant at Witensoom is hereunder. You will note that he does not anticipate much further trouble in this regard.

I visited this mine myself on the 11th and 12th instant.

Underground ventilation appeared to me to be reasonably satisfactory, but conditions in the plant still leave much to be desired. This, however, is being taken care of and the Manager is giving it every attention. One Warman dust collector has been installed, and another was ordered, but was unavailable at the time. A similar unit was therefore constructed at the mine and installed. The second Warman unit is in transit and will be installed on arrival in addition to the two already in use. Following the Inspector's last visit the management is installing a series of suction pipes in the roof of the building, which when in operation will draw off the dust as it forms.

I feel that, under the present management, we will receive every co-operation in this matter.

14th July, 1950.
JSF/S.

STATE MINING ENGINEER.

K 26/7

UNDER SECRETARY FOR AID

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.

The person for whom this letter is written is a member of the American Red Cross and is entitled to the same treatment as other members of the American Red Cross.

For all other persons who are not members of the American Red Cross, the same treatment will not be given.