Subject: RE: PFAS Summit

Here's what I got back from the Office of Ground Water and Drinking Water. Doesn't look like there is any opportunity for non-governmental entities to attend outside of national organizations. Let me know if you have any follow up questions.

GENERAL PUBLIC/STAKEHOLDERS WITHOUT INVITATION

- EPA appreciates your interest in this important issue and values your input.
- EPA is convening this leadership summit to coordinate with our state and federal partners and national organizations to identify the most critical needs they have in addressing PFAS contamination and to identify the tools we can provide them to better protect public health.
- Because space will be limited at the summit, EPA has limited the invitation to federal partners, states, territories, tribes and representatives from national organizations.
- EPA, however, will provide the opportunity for the public to join in a portion of the meeting via streaming online. Details on how to access the event will be posted on www.epa.gov/pfas.
- We will also be providing the public with the opportunity to send written input to EPA. Details on how to submit your input will be posted on www.epa.gov/pfas.
- EPA will be posting relevant meeting materials online as they become available.

- We appreciate your thoughts and suggestions on how EPA can best help states and communities facing this issue.
- We will consider your organization's interest as we plan our next steps.

-Aaron

Hi Aaron – I hope you're doing well. I was wondering if you had any additional information regarding EPA's upcoming PFAS Summit, and in particular, the ability of non-governmental entities to attend. We work with a company that is integrally involved with this issue and could provide meaningful input. If their attendance is a possibility I'm happy to provide more details.

Thanks,
Christine
