Subject: ENERGY STAR

I wanted to give you a heads up that EPA ENERGY STAR folks are releasing a new final ENERGY STAR specification for clothes washers on Friday. I didn't think they would move that fast. They have addressed many and maybe all of our concerns, but we have been wanting to assess the more recent changes they suggested with our member companies and do not want it finalized until we can do that and discuss this programs future in more detail with you.

Appreciate any help you can provide.
