

Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you for your kind invitation to speak at ANTHOS'25.

ECHA, due to a combination of factors including limited resources and the high level of speaking requests we are currently receiving, can only attend a small fraction of the events it is invited to. Bearing this in mind, and due to the general pressure on ECHA's resources and the diaries of staff, we are unfortunately unable to provide a speaker for this event.

Best regards

[REDACTED]

Program agenda and Topic/s that ECHA is expected to present: The event will take place for three days, where the first day would be arrival + networking event, while second and third days consists of whole day sessions. The session (in the second day of summit) for which we would like to have a representative of ECHA to deliver key-note lecture (up to 60 min) has a working title "PFAS restrictions - learning by doing - what can be improved e.g. concerning the handling of flame retardants and surfactants." This would be followed by Round table discussion about (again a working title) "How to ensure translation and valorisation of research work towards societal benefits by governance of Advanced/innovative materials" where we would be happy to offer the ECHA representative to be the session chair/moderator.

Overall, the summit would be similar to the ANTHOS`24, for which a full recap can be found in our webpage: <https://www.bnn.at/anthos24-recap/>
