Section I - INTRODUCTION

PURPOSE OF THE INSPECTION

A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) Sanitary Sewer System Compliance Inspection, in conjunction with PG Environmental, LLC, a USEPA contractor, was performed at the City of Richardson, Texas on March 4, 2015. The inspection was conducted in the guidance established by the USEPA under the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES). The purpose of this targeted site visit was to evaluate the City of Richardson's operations and maintenance of their collection system and their reporting procedures as implemented under the Texas Water Code (TWC), Texas Administrative Code (TAC), the Clean Water Act (CWA), and the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). An entry briefing was conducted by EPA inspector James Zimny, and the inspector met with various City of Richardson personnel including Don Magner, Assistant City Manager; Darryl Fourte, Director of Public Services; Bill Alsup, Director of Health; Hunter Stephens, Utility Systems Superintendent; Padma Patla, Project Engineer; Eric Robinson, Senior Supervisor of Technical Operations.

BACKGROUND

The City of Richardson's collection system services approximately 103,000 residents. The collection system is operated and maintained by the Water and Sewer Operations Division of the City's Public Services Department. The City's service area is about 28.5 square miles, divided into five sewer sheds. The collection system is composed of 407 miles of sewer pipe, ranging in size from 4 inches to 27 inches. Of that 407 miles, approximately 1.01 miles is force main, and the rest is gravity. Approximately 18 miles of NTMWD-owned interceptors run through the City. The City operates and maintains five lift stations, linked to the City's SCADA system. Most City sewage eventually flows into a NTMWD interceptor and then flows to the Rowlett Creek Regional waste water treatment plant (WWTP). In addition, the City discharges sewage from a 6.1 square mile area in the southwest portion of the municipality to the City of Dallas's collection system (approximately 2.7 MGD). The City also discharges approximately 3.2 MGD from a 6.05 square mile area in the southeast portion of the municipality to the City of Garland's collection system for treatment at the Garland-owned Duck Creek WWTP.

I. INTRODUCTION

On March 4, 2015, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), with assistance from PG Environmental, LLC (PG), an EPA contractor, inspected the City of Richardson's (City's) wastewater collection system. The EPA Inspection Team (composed of EPA and PG staff) evaluated the City's compliance as it relates to the operation and maintenance of the City's collection system, as well as reporting procedures. The compliance inspection consisted of the following:

- Discussions with representatives from the City regarding the operation and maintenance (O&M) of the collection system, reporting procedures, the collections system plans and manuals, and the capital improvement program (CIP).
- A physical inspection of the City's lift stations.
- Examination of the City's collection system operation, maintenance, and reporting records.
- Review of the City's call-receiving station, data warehousing systems, and collection of datasets and documents relevant to the inspection.

The City's wastewater collection system is regulated under the Texas Water Code (TWC), Texas Administrative Code (TAC), the Texas Health and Safety Code, the Clean Water Act (CWA), and the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR). Flows from the City are discharged to the City of Dallas, City of Garland, or the North Texas Municipal Water District (NTMWD). Flows entering the NTMWD collection system are conveyed to the Rowlett Creek Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP), where they can also be diverted via an NTMWD-owned lift station to the Wilson Creek Regional WWTP. The Rowlett Creek Regional WWTP is regulated under National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) Permit No. TX0047911 and the Wilson Creek Regional WWTP is regulated under NPDES Permit No. TX0088633.

The following personnel were involved in the inspection of the City's sewer collection and conveyance system:

City Representatives: Don Magner, Assistant City Manager
Darryl Fourte, Director of Public Services
Bill Alsup, Director of Health
Hunter Stephens, Utility Systems Superintendent
Padma Patla, Project Engineer

II. OVERVIEW OF WASTEWATER SYSTEM

The information presented below is based on documents and presentations provided by the City as well as observations made in the field by the EPA Inspection Team. For a list of assets visited during the inspection, and detailed observations made about those assets, refer to Appendix A and the attached Photograph Log.

A. Wastewater System Background

The City's service area is approximately 28.5 square miles, divided into five sewersheds. The collection system services approximately 103,000 residents. The collection system is primarily operated and maintained by the Water and Sewer Operations Division of the City's Public Services Department. The collection system is composed of approximately 407 miles of sewer pipe, ranging in size from 4 inches to 27 inches. Of that 407 miles, approximately 1.01 miles is force main, and the rest is gravity. Approximately 18 miles of NTMWD-owned interceptors run through the City. The City operates and maintains five lift stations; all are linked to the City's supervisory control and data acquisition (SCADA) system.

Most City sewage eventually flows into the NTMWD interceptor system and to the Rowlett Creek Regional WWTP in Plano, where it can also be diverted via an NTMWD-owned lift station to the Wilson Creek Regional WWTP in Lucas. The City has an agreement with NTMWD for the conveyance and treatment of wastewater. Flow entering the NTMWD collection system is monitored by NTMWD at several locations near the City connections. In addition, the City discharges sewage from a 6.1 square mile area in the southwest portion of the municipality to the City of Dallas's collection system for treatment (approximately 2.7 million gallons per day (mgd)). The City also discharges approximately 3.2 mgd from a 6.05 square mile area in the southeast portion of the municipality to the City of Garland's collection system for treatment at the Garland-owned Duck Creek WWTP. Refer to Exhibit 1 for maps of the City's sewersheds, lift stations, sewer mains, and NTMWD interceptors and lift stations.

City representatives stated that the City did not have a formal approach for identifying sewer-related capital projects. They stated that funding limitations have been placed on sewer work due to a decrease in water usage, which has decreased the amount of sales/total billings needed to fund the work. City representatives stated that the annual operating budget for sewer was approximately $350,000.

B. Collection System Mapping and Work Order System

The City had a geographic information system-based (GIS-based) map, which depicted assets such as sewer lines, manholes, and lift stations. The GIS included information on asset age, material (in the case of pipes and manholes), size, and related equipment (e.g., number/types of pumps installed at a lift station). The GIS identified assets by address and with an asset identification number. The GIS included a layer showing NTMWD infrastructure in the City.

At the time of the inspection, the City was utilizing an electronic work order system. Most entries were created based on customer complaints and remained open until the work was completed. Routine work, such as cleaning of trouble mains was logged in after the work was completed. The system was not used to assign and track routine maintenance (i.e., preventive maintenance). This is further discussed in section III, finding 1 of this report. City representatives stated that each City department has its own work order system; however, the City was looking at transferring to one, City-wide work order system in the future.

C. Receiving and Responding to Service Requests

The EPA Inspection Team reviewed the City's system for receiving and responding to customer service requests. The City receives all calls at the Public Services Department call center 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. The call center operators use a software program, which is linked to the work order system, to document details of the call. The software includes prompts for questions to ask of the caller in order to determine and document the nature of the issue (refer to Photograph 2). After-hours calls are dispatched to the on-call crew chief and maintenance personnel.

The call center operators categorize calls with utility task codes, which are used to identify the type of activity and determine the appropriate responding crew (refer to Exhibit 2). The list included codes for such tasks as "grease and root blockages" and "routine and trouble main cleaning." Once a call has been logged, a work order is generated electronically and is forwarded to the appropriate supervisor, who generates a hardcopy work ticket to be completed in the field. Upon completion, the information from the hardcopy ticket is transferred into the work order system, and the task is closed out. If routine maintenance occurs (e.g., trouble main cleaning or closed circuit television (CCTV)), a work ticket is generated in the field first, and then submitted for entry into the electronic work order system.

D. Collection System Maintenance

City representatives stated that the City had two jet trucks for sewer cleaning and responding to calls, as well as one jet truck used to jet lines in conjunction with the CCTV operation. The City also had one jet/vacuum combination truck used primarily for hydro-excavation. City representatives stated the City is divided into east and west maintenance areas, with crews and equipment designated for each.

At the time of the inspection, one of the City's two jet trucks used for sewer cleaning and responding to calls was out of service. The jet truck that was typically used for CCTV work was being used as a temporary backup. It was unclear how long the truck had been out of service or when it would return to service. City representatives stated that operators typically jet lines during routine cleaning and stated a vacuum truck could be provided via contractor if needed.

The City conducts CCTV work as crews are available. CCTV inspections are documented utilizing a software system (Granite) installed in the CCTV van. CCTV crew members present at the time of the inspection stated that they typically look for issues requiring immediate attention/repair. CCTV data is not typically used for long-term planning such as CIP projects. City representatives stated that most CIP projects to be executed in the near future involve replacing the remaining clay pipe in the collection system. City representatives stated they had televised approximately 10 percent of the collection system since 2010.

The City had not implemented a prioritized, City-wide approach to sewer system cleaning or CCTV. City representatives stated that preventive cleaning and CCTV work was conducted as time allowed. Field crew members present at the time of the inspection stated that they try to clean trouble main (i.e., hot spot) areas monthly, but are not always able to achieve that frequency. This is further discussed in section III, finding 1 of this report.

E. Lift Stations

At the time of the inspection, the City had five lift stations. All lift stations were linked to the City's SCADA system for wet-well monitoring and pump-runtime trending. The SCADA system could only be used to monitor station levels and alarms. All of the operational control activities needed to be done onsite. The City had multiple portable generators dedicated to lift stations. City representatives stated that the generators were stored in a covered area at a City-owned water pump station. Four of the City's lift stations had quick-connect sockets for backup power connections. The fifth, Lookout Lift Station, had onsite backup power.

City representatives stated the City had three operators dedicated to lift station O&M. They stated operators tried to visit lift stations daily, but never less than once every 3 days. During these visits, operators conduct basic inspections and log pump run-times; however, the City did not have a formal preventive maintenance process for lift stations. City representatives stated that operators clean station wet wells (i.e., jet to break up grease) as needed, but most other lift station maintenance is reactive. The City does not typically use a vacuum to remove grease from lift station wet wells. Some lift stations had dry wells that were close to 20 feet deep. These dry wells were classified as confined spaces, which required permits to be filed for access. Some of the lift stations had security cameras linked to the City's SCADA system (refer to Photograph 12). Lift station O&M, as well as observations from the EPA Inspection Team's lift station field activities, is further discussed in section III, finding 1 of this report.

III. ASSESSMENT OF COMPLIANCE

Based on observations made during the inspection, and a review of documents and data collected during the inspection, the EPA Inspection Team noted the following findings of potential noncompliance:

Finding 1. Failure to implement proper O&M of the collection system

Specifically, Title 30 of TAC § 291.94(C)(1) states:

The retail public utility shall maintain its collection system and appurtenances to minimize blockages.

Title 30 of the TAC § 305.125(5) states:

The permittee shall at all times properly operate and maintain all facilities and systems of treatment and control (and related appurtenances) installed or used by the permittee to achieve compliance with the permit conditions. For Underground Injection Control permits proper operation and maintenance includes effective performance, adequate funding, adequate operator staffing and training, and adequate laboratory and process controls, including appropriate quality assurance procedures. This provision requires the operation of back-up or auxiliary facilities or similar systems only when necessary to achieve compliance with the permit conditions.

Similar language is also included in 40 CFR § 122.41(e).

At the time of the inspection, the City's collection system O&M activities were not structured or managed to minimize blockages. Efforts needed to minimize blockages (partial or total) include a regular review of maintenance activities and management practices. For this to occur, management systems must be employed and must be properly populated with maintenance activities and findings. Regular reviews allow personnel to proactively determine cleaning and maintenance frequencies. This structured approach needs to be applied to the decision-making process for determining which assets should be rehabilitated or replaced. The City did not have a formalized maintenance approach to ensure the entire collection system was operating properly. City representatives stated that the City does perform high frequency (i.e., trouble main or hot spot) cleaning in certain areas; however, the City did not have a set cycle for cleaning or televising the entire sewer system. City representatives stated that when operators are not performing hot spot cleaning, they are responding to customer complaints. City representatives stated that CCTV inspections were conducted as personnel were available.

City representatives stated that a formal preventive maintenance schedule had not been established for critical components of the City's lift stations or the collection system. Specifically, the City had not implemented a prioritized, City-wide approach to sewer system cleaning or CCTV. The City conducted some preventive cleaning, including some hot spot cleaning, as well as CCTV work; however, there was no formal approach to ensure the entire collection system was cleaned and televised at a set frequency. City representatives stated that preventive cleaning and CCTV work was conducted as time allowed. City representatives stated that crews did not typically vacuum while cleaning sewer lines. Debris and grease was typically jetted downstream in the collection system (e.g., ending up accumulating elsewhere or ending up in a lift station).

Field crew members present at the time of the inspection stated that they try to clean the trouble main areas monthly, but they are not always able to achieve that frequency. At the time of the inspection, one of the City's two jet trucks, used for sewer cleaning and responding to calls, was out of service. A third jet truck, typically used for CCTV work, was being used as a backup when available. It was unclear how long the jet truck had been out of service or when it would return to service. Routine maintenance of components critical to wastewater collection and conveyance is important to minimize the potential for failures leading to sewer backups and sanitary sewer overflows (SSOs). Further, City representatives stated that the City's Health Department only conducted commercial grease trap inspections on a reactive basis. Grease traps were not being inspected unless a problem such as odor or overflow occurred. A review of work order data provided by the City indicated at least 74 grease-related sewer stoppages (utility code 572101) were documented in 2013 and 2014 (refer to Exhibit 3).

Operators document trouble main cleaning in the field on a "Trouble Main List" (refer to Photograph 37). The City provided a summary of trouble main cleaning for 2014 (refer to Exhibit 4). According to the data, the City has about 52,750 linear feet (approximately 10 miles) of trouble mains. The City reported performing a total of 303,230 linear feet of sewer cleaning in 2014, which is an average of 25,269 linear feet per month. A pace of 25,000 linear feet per month is less than half of the "Trouble Main List" alone. In some cases, the City had reported cleaning more linear footage of a trouble main than the recorded length of the segment. For example, in May 2014, the City reported cleaning 900 linear feet of line in the trouble main at 700 Lorrie Drive (west alley), a segment that was listed as only 150 feet. It was unclear if the crew cleaned additional segments during this task or if they were counting multiple passes in the same segment in the total linear footage reported. Counting multiple passes in the same line would give the appearance that a greater percentage of the system has been cleaned.

Proper operation and maintenance of a collection system also relies, in part, on maintaining accurate, up-to-date information in an accessible form. This information includes collection system data, field documentation, and SOPs. Field observations are critical to the proper operation and maintenance of the collection system and should document the uniqueness of the field activity performed. This includes regularly recording observations such as how much and what type of debris was removed from a sewer segment or wet well during cleaning, and the observed condition of a specific asset at the time of inspection or maintenance activities.

The City's work order system was not set up to easily track and trend maintenance completed on individual assets in order to determine potential preventive or predictive maintenance schedules. City representatives stated that a new City-wide work order system would be a budget priority for FY 2016. At the time of the inspection, each City department was using a different work order platform.

Based on a review of the work order data provided (refer to Exhibit 3), the EPA Inspection Team determined that documented cleaning events may not have been properly categorized in the work order system. Specifically, the City had a utility code for trouble main cleaning, and a separate one for routine cleaning; however, based on the work order data provided, it appeared as though the City was using the routine cleaning code to document trouble main cleaning in some cases. Numerous entries in the City's work order documentation listed the routine cleaning code, but made reference to trouble main cleaning in either the order's short description or job order comments. Further, many of the entries listed the address of the public works building as the location where cleaning was conducted, making it impossible to determine which segments were cleaned.

In an e-mail provided after the date of the inspection, the City provided a summary stating 784,375 linear feet (36 percent of total collection system) was cleaned between 2010 and March 2015. They also stated that the total was calculated using work ticket comments, and that this method did not allow segments cleaned more than once to be counted multiple times (i.e., the data only included unique segment lengths). The EPA Inspection Team did not review the work tickets to verify accuracy.

City representatives stated that lift station operators try to visit each station daily, and never let more than 3 days elapse between visits. However, the EPA Inspection Team observed a documentation gap of 7 days in the Collins Lift Station's daily rounds records; the gap was between February 9 and 16, 2015 (refer to Photographs 25 and 26). Lift station operators present at the time of the inspection stated that they were unsure why there was such a long gap in the documentation. At the time of the inspection, water was observed leaking into the station's dry well, close to the electrical housing near the station's access hatch (refer to Photographs 23 and 24). The leak was not mentioned in the station's log. City representatives were unsure how long the leak had been there. An overflow line in the station's wet well could convey sewage into a bypass pipe and transport it (by gravity) downstream to the Meredith Lift Station wet well.

Keeping detailed and accurate datasets in a centralized database (the custodian of O&M records) enables operators to refine maintenance frequencies and better employ predictive maintenance strategies (customized to the specific needs of City assets) based on the conditions the operators experience in the City's system. The proper application of an O&M plan requires evaluating pertinent, validated field documentation so that maintenance activities can be budgeted and scheduled at the most appropriate frequencies. The documentation process also supports proper planning, budgeting, and scheduling for CIP projects.

Finding 2. Failure to prevent unauthorized/unpermitted discharges

Specifically, TWC section 26.121(a) states:

Except as authorized by the commission, no person may:

- (1) discharge sewage, municipal waste, recreational waste, agricultural waste, or industrial waste into or adjacent to any water in the state;*

- (2) discharge other waste into or adjacent to any water in the state which in itself or in conjunction with any other discharge or activity causes, continues to cause, or will cause pollution of any of the water in the state.

In addition, section 301 of the CWA states:

- a. Except as in compliance with this section and sections 302, 306, 307, 318, 402, and 404 of this Act, the discharge of any pollutant by any person shall be unlawful.

Further, 40 CFR section 122.1(b) states:

- (1) The NPDES program requires permits for the discharge of “pollutants” from any “point source” into “waters of the United States.”

It should be noted that TWC section 26.039(b) states:

Whenever an accidental discharge or spill occurs at or from any activity or facility which causes or may cause pollution, the individual operating, in charge of, or responsible for the activity or facility shall notify the commission as soon as possible and not later than 24 hours after the occurrence. The individual's notice to the commission must include the location, volume, and content of the discharge or spill.

The City provided the EPA Inspection Team with records of 181 SSO events occurring between 2010 and March 2015 (refer to Exhibit 5). The data indicated that most SSOs were the result of grease or other debris blockages in the line. As noted above, the City did not have a comprehensive preventive maintenance plan. The City provided records of the 116 SSOs reported to the Texas Commission of Environmental Quality (TCEQ) during 2014. None of the SSO events seemed to indicate failures at the City’s lift stations or issues related to operation or capacity in the NTMWD interceptors. A sewage release occurring on private property that is caused by an issue or failure in the City-owned portion of the collection system is an SSO. Based on the 2014 reports provided, the City appeared to be reporting sewage releases on/in private property as SSOs to TCEQ.

City representatives stated that the City is responsible for sewer laterals up to the private property line, and that many private properties in the City have a two-way cleanout at the property line. When this is the case, City operators use the two-way cleanout to help diagnose the location/cause of SSOs. If a property has a two-way cleanout, operators use it to clear blockages in the lateral line, no matter which side the blockage is on. If the customer does not have a cleanout at the property line, and the blockage is determined to be on the private side, the City instructs the resident to call a plumber to clear the line.

The EPA Inspection Team cross-referenced the SSO data with the provided work order documentation for 2013 and 2014. Based on a small sample size, it appeared SSOs were being documented in the work order system. However, the City did not have a utility code specific to overflows, meaning SSOs were entered into the system under a variety of codes related to the cause of the overflow, making it difficult to identify SSOs vs stoppages within the work order system.

IV. ADDITIONAL CONCERNS

In addition to the findings described above, the EPA Inspection Team also identified additional concerns, based on conversations with City staff and observations made during document review and field activities.

A. SOPs and training

City representatives stated that operators are required to sign that they have read City protocols and procedures upon being hired. They stated that the City maintained SOPs for some sewer-related activities, but most sewer tasks were conducted based primarily on institutional knowledge. City representatives stated that operators receive on-the-job training, and spend years learning equipment in the field before being able to operate it on their own. They added that most operators are hired at the lowest levels so that they can learn City processes from the ground up. City representatives stated that they were working to develop more SOPs for sewer-related tasks.

The EPA Inspection Team recommends the City develop and implement structured and written SOPs for any sewer maintenance and cleaning performed by the City and its contractors. The SOPs should include detailed, step-by-step procedures for conducting the maintenance and cleaning activities, including the following pipe maintenance activities: (1) preventive maintenance cleaning and blockage removal; (2) types of equipment to be used (“tiger tails,” nozzles, screens/rakes, etc.); (3) guidelines and/or reference tables for appropriate jetting pressures and flows based on the type of jetting activity, type of pipe, size of pipe, age of pipe, and known condition of pipe; and (4) requirements for formally documenting pipe conditions, materials removed during cleaning, and other findings so the results can be reviewed, and if needed, evaluated by managerial staff. Maintenance activities and frequencies may need to be modified based on the review and evaluation of findings. The operation of high pressure sewer equipment without formal training and without SOPs can create serious safety issues and may significantly damage the structural integrity of the sewer pipe. Reference materials to support the development of the SOPs are available from various sources (equipment manufacturers, equipment vendors, professional associations, etc.), including references such as the National Association of Sewer Service Companies’ Jetter Code of Practices (http://nassco.org/publications/p\_techman.html), which provides guidelines for the proper operation of sewer jetter equipment.
