Send me the info for the staffer that told you that and their office, I'll get on it.

Just when you thought you escaped me – I am bugging you again!!!! I have a very random question.

Our client, SAP, has a large trade show coming up. They are trying to bring over a vehicle for the trade show from Germany. It is our understanding that to do that, you need paperwork from the EPA.

- It is a swiss concept Vehicle from the company Rinspeed for SAP's trade show in Orlando on May 16th
- For the record, this same vehicle came over in early January of this year for the CES show in Las Vegas.

SAP is being told by a staffer at the EPA that they are unable to get to working on this paperwork due to the possibility of a government shutdown. This seems a bit strange. It is our understanding that this is not a very time consuming project.

Are you able to provide any advice/insight/next steps we should take? Thank you!!
