MR. WILLIAMS: Your Honor, same objection.

THE COURT: Overruled. It will be admitted into evidence.

(Whereupon, Plaintiffs' Exhibit Number Dartez 32 was received into evidence.)

MR. IGNATOWSKI: To Mr. Sims.

Because inhalation of asbestos fibers can cause disabling and fatal diseases, Raymark, R/M, has compelling reasons to provide caution labels and work practice instructions with asbestos-containing materials.

The company has a moral obligation to warn its customers that improper handling of its products may generate hazardous airborne concentrations of asbestos fibers and it has a duty to comply with governmental regulations.

Caution labels are placed on packages of automatic transmission plates because abrasion in shipment can cause asbestos-containing dust to accumulate in the packages.

Lined brake shoes are rarely ground in the