Dear Mr. Wilder:

This is in response to your October 30 letter inquiring about Duco® Hi-Gloss Enamel.

Before we can tell you whether this particular paint is safe for use on a baby's bed, we need to know the color you used. Please send us the color and code number of the paint you used. If available, you could just send us the label from the can.

While it is unlikely that this product contains harmful amounts of lead, we would like further information before giving you a firm answer.

Very truly yours,

E. E. Swain, Jr.
Toxicity Coordinator
