Letter From ELC 2017 Chairs:
Ted Davies, Renee Wynn and Casey Coleman

Dear Scott,

In just 5 days, we will be kicking-off ELC 2017 in Williamsburg, VA! For more than 20 years, senior executives from government and industry have gathered at ELC for innovative opportunities to engage, learn, and collaborate.

This year, it is our privilege to lead the premier government IT event. ELC 2017 will address the opportunity we have to take advantage of this disruptive time of change to help enable a high performing government. The focus on mission outcomes is more vital than ever before.

ELC 2017 will address the big issues facing our government IT community including:

- Insights into FY18 Administration priorities and federal agency goals
- Modernizing IT legacy systems while lowering Total Cost of Ownership (TCO)
- Why technology is the key to organizational transformation but why it takes more than technology to be successful
- Best practices for improving the customer experience from real life examples, such as GlobalEntry and why IRS leads the way in transformation and innovation
- The latest in cybersecurity and more about the DHS Continuous Diagnostics and Mitigation program
- How DHS, Commerce and HUD are using shared services to combat crime and terrorism
- BONUS: Government attendees have an additional opportunity to participate in a government-only session to discuss the rapidly changing environment and what's ahead with senior Administration leaders
