

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
DIVISION OF LABOR STANDARDS
WASHINGTON

December 22, 1936

My dear Sir:

I am enclosing for your information a copy of "Recent Changes in the Painters' Trade," by Dr. Alice Hamilton, issued as Bulletin No. 7 of the Division of Labor Standards.

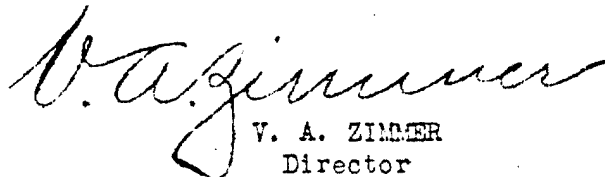

This publication supplements and brings up to date a previous study by Dr. Hamilton on this subject. This study is now out of print. The present publication describes the newer materials and methods used in the trade, and their effects upon the health of workers employed therein.

Since the technical phases of the trade and the hazards encountered therein are thoroughly covered, it is felt that the study will be of practical benefit to technicians and others interested in the prevention of the occupational hazards arising in the painters' trade.

Additional copies of the study in limited quantities are available through the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., at ten cents a copy.

If you have any comments with regard to this bulletin, I shall be only too happy to hear from you.

Very truly yours,

V. A. ZIMMER
Director
