FYI, looks like Pacific Northwest tribes are primed to participate in a regional effort on invasive mussels.

Thanks,

Scott

Scott:

I have a call with Upper Columbia United Tribe representatives at 8pm this evening. Our poc for the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission - Blaine Parker - can't make the call, but I thought you'd enjoy seeing the email that I just received (below). Blaine is an ISAC member...

Best,

Jamie

Jamie and crew, I have had good discussions on this and can potentially mobilize the 15 tribal groups working on the Columbia River Treaty to help back a mussel agreement with the WGA and NISC. General support for doing something, granted the tribes are not part of the WGA, but if we all work together a lot can be brought to bear. Also attaching a letter from the UCUT's, in case Joe doesn't have it yet. Blaine

Jamie I will call you in the morning. Blaine
