Pure Paint on your House
is like thick leather soles on your shoes

MANY grades of leather and near-leather are used for soles, just as many grades of paint are used for houses. But, as the old adage says, "Appearances are deceptive." The good-looking sole may soon be oozing water, and the paint which looked O. K. in the can may offer poor protection to your house.

That is why it is so important when you buy paint to get the best. Then you buy protection—not just so much liquid in a can. To sell cheaply, paints must be made of poor or inferior ingredients—inferior because they merely cover the surface and do not form a really protective film when the paint is applied. Pure paint, on the other hand, is made of those ingredients which produce a tough, elastic, enduring film—proof against the elements.

Remember that labor is two-thirds the cost of painting. Don't waste it on cheap paint. The surest way of getting real protection is to buy Fuller Pure Paints. For all large painting jobs consult a master painter.
