man, sent out blanketing unit, encountered little or no opposition, made good progress to the east of the likely main battle ground.

One of the chief features of the day was the resupplying from the air of a battalion of tanks. C-47 transport planes from the air base command, operating from a base with no other units, located the "lost" battalion in short order and then, hitting their mark with amazing accuracy, let loose a cloud of parachute attached to bundles of gasoline, oil, water and supplies.
