Sport Briefs

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP) — A lot of quotes about a little subject, but one of our pets—scholastic and college baseball:

From "Southern Coach and Athlete" — "More emphasis on baseball in high schools would not only help solve the player shortage, but would make good cash customers out of thousands of non-participants, who now know and care nothing for the game. School athletic officials are not crying at this funeral. Many of them remember the days when baseball scouts would sign up their star players while they were yet sophomores or juniors."

From Birmingham, Ala.: "I think high school officials look on baseball as something that just has to be, so they spend as little out of the football till as possible. Uniforms aren't too flashy and the general equipment is no better. Season is short; games are scheduled through the week on obscure fields; umpiring isn't too good; American Legion baseball goes and, I think, has a lot to do with the de-emphasis of the high school brand."

From Oklahoma: "In ordinary times, we have had as many as a dozen teams in Class A, 34 in Class B and 12 to 15 in junior high in our annual state meet at the University of Oklahoma. That meant the kids were playing almost constantly on eight different diamonds during the three-day life of the tourney. And you ought to see the crowds and hear them holler."

From Connecticut: "Nearly every school plays it. An effort several years ago to put on a state tourney attracted a good entry but didn't arouse too much interest. Basketball packed 'em in nightly, whereas baseball didn't draw flies, mainly because of the hours. No effort has been made to put on a baseball tourney since."

From North Dakota: "It's like a 21-year-old physically fit youth in 1-A—practically non-existent. Harry Bridgeford, Fargo athletic director, says in his 14-year tenure here, the North Dakota high school league never has sanctioned baseball as a major sport and he assumes that it conflicts with track."

From Indiana: "What's wrong with it? Nothing, except the time of year it is played. Principal John W. Holdeman of Elkhart high school proposed a few seasons back that the prep league should carry its baseball into the summer using only those players who were eligible at the close of the school year."

From Minor League Headquarters: "Anything that is practical, within reach financially and for the best of the game will find me in one hundred percent accord."

The pros and cons of college ball are similar, and from this opinion sampling, we've concluded that the big needs of both school and college ball are (1) better coaching and equipment, (2) less snatching of good players by organized baseball, (3) more enthusiastic support from older folks who love the game (it might be catching), (4) further incentive in the form of championship competition and (5) some sort of a summer program, possibly a hookup

Modern Win Streak Record

Sewell's Boys Can Tie the Mark by Taking Today's Game

By JACK HAN

(Associated Press Sports Writer.) If those amazing St. Louis Browns from the Cleveland Indians today they will tie the modern American League record for win streaks at the opening of a season.

Luke Sewell's Browns have captured six in a row, only one short of the total compiled by the Yankees in reaching seven straight starting with opening day in 1923.

The Big League mark of 12 is still safe in the hands of the 1884 New York Giants, but the modern Big League mark of nine held jointly by the 1918 Giants and the 1940 Brooklyn Dodgers is within reach. Way back in 1884, the St. Louis entry of the Union Association captured that 12 streak, but this is not recognized as a current.

STREAKS END

Both current streaks of 12 streaks went off yesterday when the Browns were knocked off by the Yankees in 12 innings, 4-3 and the St. Louis Cardinals were slugged by Cincinnati, 10-3. Only the Browns, who had an open day in the schedule, remain to tie the 12 and 12 books.

Mort Conner of the Cubs had trouble in his second straight fight and was knocked out of the ring before he could get any blows in in the first round. While Mort was getting his hands, Elmer Hulse threw a neat eight-hitter to Cincinnati and didn't pitch a ball until the sixth.

Buster Adams and Ray Schanz, a rookie hurler from San Diego, were the culprits in the Phillies' exciting 12-inning 4-3 win over the Giants. Adams hit a two-run homer to tie in the sixth and bashed a double to help Schanz with the decisive tally.

Brooklyn and Boston battled away at a 3-3 clip for eight innings until the Dodgers cut loose with eight runs in the ninth to make it a lopsided 11-3 final. Lefty Buz Chipman went all the way to capture his second straight as Leo Durocher struck with his announced plan of feeding the Braves a diet of southpaws.

Connie Mack's Athletics seemed to be awed by Johnny Lindell's grand slam homer, the first in the Major Leagues this season, and overcame that four-run deficit to knock Ernie Bonham out of the box and win an 8-4 series opener on late rallies. Woody Wheaton dished out two kays, wallows, a single that stopped Bonham in the eighth and a double that flattened Rookie Al Lyons in the ninth.

Marathon honors for the infant season went to the Boston Red Sox who were persistent enough to down Washington, 5-4 in 11 innings. Bobby Doerr kept pecking away for three doubles, his last being the blow that started the winning spurt. Mike Ryba took the bows with Bobby for his hurling of five no-hit relief innings.

Los Angeles

By The Associated Press

Two extra inning games featured play in the southern part of the Pacific Coast league last night as other clubs marked time pending today's opening of the home seasons at Portland and Seattle. Manager Dolph Camilli of Oakland lifted a home run over the 400-foot distant right field fence in the tenth to break up a pitching duel between Nubs Kleinke of the Aacorns and Pete Mallory of Los Angeles. The score was Oakland 3 Los Angeles 2. Mallory had yielded only four hits before Camilli's circuit clout.

San Francisco climbed to within a few percentage points of the leading Los Angeles club by a tenning win over Hollywood, 2 to 1, last night. The teams were deadlocked at 1-1 from the fourth until the extra inning when the Seals put three hits together for the winning margin.

The San Diego Padres will be guests of the Portland Beavers at a late afternoon opening, while last place Sacramento will play in the night premier at Seattle.

Fort Ord Fighter Wins at San Jose

SAN JOSE, Calif., April 26. (AP) Rallying in the last few rounds, Al Tribuani, 160, Fort Ord, won a decision over Johnny Diaz, 158, Honolulu, in a 10 round bout here last night.

Diaz had the better of the first half of the match, but Tribuani came back strong and in the ninth closed Diaz's eye.

In the semi-final Eddie Halligan, 154, Oakland, won a six round decision over Freddy Cannon, 154, San Francisco. Johnny Armando, 151, San Jose, won the preliminary with a fourth round technical knockout of Pete Ramero, 146, San Francisco.
