

SEA GRANT CONFERENCE—From left, Tommy Brown of Cornell University, Stephen Brown, marine specialist with Sea Grant Advisory Service, and Leigh Blake of the Department of Environmental Conservation, discuss various aspects of the recreational and boating situation in the St. Lawrence region at a conference for businessmen yesterday.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y.
JOURNAL
D. 5,930

DEC 3 1975

Sea Grant

Continued From Page 11

business administration at SUNY College in Oswego outlined his program, the "aqua-business institute." Although presently not funded, Parr hopes to receive money soon for his "unofficial hope and dream." He believes that someone should do something for the aqua business, such as the recently-established marina management project. Fifty-five per cent of marinas had management problems, he reported.

Stephen Brown, Marine specialist with Sea Grant Advisory Service, explained that Sea Grant hopes to sponsor future conferences and to provide more information to the businessmen associated with recreational boating and fishing.

MONS 033253

Sea Grant Discusses Problems

With Boating, Fishing Businesses

MONS 033254