

BRAKES can become just as deadly!

Handling dynamite can be a risky operation. It's a deadly explosive, and everyone knows it.

Brakes can be just as deadly. But, unfortunately, you may not know they have become potential killers. That is why a regular, periodic brake inspection is so important—every 5,000 miles at least.

That is why, when you need new linings, you should insist on American Brakeblok. For over twenty-five years it has been known as America's Safety Brake Lining. It has a margin of safety built in. To respond the instant you touch the pedal. To stop you quickly, smoothly, safely—under every traffic condition.

Have your repairman check your brakes regularly. And when he says you need new linings, tell him to install American Brakeblok. He'll agree you can't buy better.
