Subject: Gmo mosquitos

Many of us do not consent to the GM mosquitos!
There already is a proven track record and trials going on now in the Keys with Wolbachia from mosquitomate.com
This trial has already been approved by the FDA. We must at least wait till the results are in on that please. They are not genetically engineered!
There can be so many unintended consequences, there are bats and frogs and plants and so much more that eat mosquitos. There are females that will be released. We could have another MRSA with tetracycline on our hands.
Oxitec is using synthetic DNA based on the Herpes Virus and E.coli. How can this be acceptable?
I am not a scientist, but there are too many unanswered questions and homework needs to be done.
