The following is the information you requested to begin our efforts in planning a meeting in Europe on sound science.

I. TASSC scientists who have agreed to participate in a European meeting

The following is a list of TASSC scientists who were contacted and have agreed to participate in the international meeting, along with a selected listing of their international involvement to date.

- Dr. Warren B. Cheston, Associate Director and Director of External Affairs, The Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Deputy Science Attache, U.S. Embassy (London), 1963-65.

Spokesperson, world-wide, for Wistar Institute on genetic engineering, 1991-present.

- Dr. Manfred Kroger, Professor of Science, Technology and Society and Food Science, The Pennsylvania State University, State College.

Editorial Board, LWT (journal of the Swiss Society of Food Science & Technology); Milchwissenschaft (journal of the German Dairy Science Association).

Chairman, Pesticides Residues Group, U.S. National Committee to International Dairy Federation, 1984.

2025492867

- Dr. Donald H. Stedman, Brainerd Phillipson Professor of Chemistry, University of Denver, Colorado.

Presenter, European Conference on New Fuels and Vehicles for Clean Air, 1993.

Presenter, Five Country Tour of Asia, "Motor Vehicle Sampling Tour," partially sponsored by World Trade Center, 1993.

Demonstrator, Remote Emissions Sensing Device, OKO Science, Zurich, 1994.

Presenter, American Hellenic College, Greece, 1992.

- Dr. Patrick J. Michaels, Senior Fellow in Environmental Science, Cato Institute.

Who's Who Worldwide/Platinum.

Lecturer, European Academy of Ecology, Germany, 1993.

Lecturer, World Coal Conference, New Orleans, LA, 1993.

- Dr. Michael Kamrin, Professor, Institute for Environmental Toxicology, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Member, Academy of Finland International Evaluation Team on Environmental Toxicology, Helsinki, Finland, 1988.

Organizer and Presider, Symposium on Environmental Risk Reduction by Health Education, XIV World Conference on Health Education, Helsinki, Finland, 1991.

Organizing Committee and Toxicology Session Moderator, International Symposium on PCBs in the Great Lakes, Michigan, 1982.

2025492888

- Dr. Alfred P. Wehner, President, Biomedical and Environmental Consultants, Inc. (multinational), Richland, WA.

Who's Who in the World.

Editor, MEDICEF Direct Information, Germany.

Executive Board, International Society for Aerosols, 1970-82.

Working contact with scientists in the following foreign countries: Canada, Australia, Great Britain, Germany, Japan, Sweden, Italy, France and the former Soviet Union (now in Ukraine, Estonia and Latvia).

- Dr. Henry I. Miller, Visiting Fellow, Institute for International Studies; Visiting Scholar, Hoover Institution, Stanford University.

Special Assistant to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, Food And Drug Administration, representing FDA's interests in the U.S. and abroad, 1985-89.

Member, U.S. Delegation to U.S.-Japan Cooperative Program on Recombinant DNA Research, 1982-88.

Member, World Health Organization Working Group on Health Implications of Biotechnology, 1982-83.

Award for Activities in International Regulation, Association of Biotechnology Companies, 1988.

- Dr. Alan J. Gross, Professor, Department of Biometry, Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston.

Presenter, Second World Congress, Sweden, 1990.

Lecturer, Taiwan Central University, Taiwan, 1987.

Research Associate, Technological University, Netherlands, 1963-64.

2025492869

- Dr. Karl Maramorosch, Robert L. Starkey Professor of Microbiology and Professor of Entomology, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey.

President, International Association for Medicinal Forest Plants.

Member, Leopoldina, oldest European Academy of Sciences.

Consultant, Food and Agriculture Organization in the Philippines, India, Nigeria, Thailand, Sri Lanka, and Mauritius.

Assigned from the Rockefeller Foundation, the Aid for International Development, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and Ford Foundation in Mexico, India, Kenya and the Philippines.

- Dr. A. Alan Moghissi, Associate Vice President of Temple University, Environmental Health and Safety Department, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

- Floy Lilley, J.D., Program Manager, C.W. Murchison Sr. Chair of Free Enterprise, University of Texas, Austin, Texas.

Researcher and Presenter of international topics: global warming, ozone depletion, acid rain, chemicals, risk analysis, biotechnology, waste management and nuclear energy.

Attended, University of Innsbruck, Institute of World Legal Studies, Transnational Environmental Problems, Austria.

III. Other European scientists involved in sound science

In addition, we have identified several scientists in Western Europe who have spoken out on the issue of sound science who you may want to consider for participation. A few follow by name and institution; numerous others are easily referenced in books and articles in our possession that deal with pertinent issues (ex: ozone depletion, and peer-reviewed research).

- Dr. Petr Skrabanek (toxicologist), Associate Professor, Irish College of General Practitioners and Trinity College in Dublin; Prolific writer and Author of numerous works, including co-author of Follies and Fallacies in Medicine, 1989; IRELAND.
- Dr. James McCormick (epidemiologist), President, Irish College of General Practitioners; author of several works including co-author of Follies and Fallacies in Medicine, 1989; IRELAND.

2025492895

- Dr. Haroun Tazieff (engineer and scientific researcher), former French secretary of state for the prevention of natural and technological disasters, current elected member of regional council; connected to numerous scientists with specialties affected by sound science issues; FRANCE.
- Dr. Ralf Schauerhammer (physicist), chairman of the Fusion Energy Forum, and editor of its journal, Fusion-- Technology and Science for the 21st Century; Author of numerous articles on science and environmentalism, including a 1991 best-seller in Germany, Sackgasse Oekostaat, kein Platz fuer Menschen (Dead end-- The environmental state: no Room for human beings) and co-author of The Holes in the Ozone Scare, 1992; GERMANY.
- Dr. Leonard S. Levy, Institute of Occupational Health, University of Birmingham; author of numerous works on indoor air quality in Europe; UK.
