Hi Robert,

I'm working on a story about yesterday's reported meeting at the White House between the Administrator, the President and others, to discuss the small refiner hardship exemptions under the RFS. I have seen nothing official from the WH on the meeting. Could you confirm that the meeting took place, that Administrator Pruitt was there and that they discussed the issue of hardship exemptions? There have been conflicting reports, one of them that the decision out of the meeting was to defer the issue for three months. Can you confirm that?

Thanks,
Dan Macy
