When we had the VCM Health Study meetings back in September, we told you that we would have another set of meetings as soon as we prepared answers to all of the questions from the first meetings. I thought these meetings would have been in October.

The answers to the questions are still being worked on and we will provide this information to you at meetings as soon as it's completed. We will put up a schedule as soon as we're ready, but it probably will not be until early December.
