Dear Doctor Eckardt:

I have raised the matter of a discussion of the toxicity and potential health hazards of the organic lead compounds with the proper persons in Ethyl Corporation. It has been suggested, largely for my sake, I believe, that one of the technical representatives of the Detroit Laboratory should sit in on such discussion, so that any problems involving technical "know-how" that arise can be dealt with by him or with his knowledge.

If you will let me know how and when you wish to proceed with this matter, I shall be able to make the necessary arrangements and get the information together.

Sincerely yours,

Robert A. Kehoe, M. D.
