A That is correct, sir.

Q Okay. After you received your Doctorate, where did you go to work?

A I accepted a position as Assistant Professor of Toxicology in the College of Medicine, Department of Preventive Medicine at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Q And was that a teaching position?

A Yes, sir.

Q Who were you teaching?

A The students at that location were physicians who had returned to school to get a graduate degree and their residency training in occupational medicine or in aerospace medicine.

This is all part of the community medicine program.

Q Okay. Those were doctors then?

A That is correct. My duties there were to train them in toxicology and in industrial hygiene.

Q Did you eventually leave Ohio State?

A Yes, sir. I was there about five years, and
