November 25, 1970

Dear Sir:

You are a user of Monsanto's Therminol FR-2 or FR-3 in a high temperature fluid heat transfer system. Perhaps your Monsanto Fluids Specialist has advised you that these products will be discontinued effective December 31, 1970.

The product you can order as a direct replacement is Therminol FR-1.

Therminol FR-1 is chemically similar and completely compatible with Therminol FR-2 or FR-3. Therefore, Therminol FR-1 can be added as top up to your system. No changes in your system are necessary. You will continue to have a safe and efficient fluid heat transfer system.

Our reason for discontinuing Therminol FR-2 and FR-3 is limited acceptance in the market. This has occurred because Therminol FR-1 has been widely specified and purchased for systems requiring a fire resistant heat transfer fluid -- it is the more versatile product.

If you have questions, please call your local Monsanto office or me. We appreciate your interest in us and we want to continue to fill your orders with the best product in the best way.

Yours truly,

John R. Fallon

DATE: May 9, 1973 cc

SUBJECT: PCB Warning Letters, November 25, 1970
By J. R. Fallon

REFERENCE:

TO : Memo to File

Included in his file are 1) copy of a form letter to which was attached a note requesting two copies be sent to United Merchants Mfg. in New York. This name was not included in any of the work sheets for this mailing. It is assumed however, that the two letters requested by Fallon were sent.

2) The letters returned from seven customers include Lubrizol at Loredo, Texas, General Tire at Lawrence, Maryland, American Hydrotherm Corp., New York City, Pillsbury Co.,Gainesville, Florida, Stone Container, Chicago, Florida Corp., College Park, Georgia.

3) Copy of the address list by Monsanto sales office.

4) Copy of the work sheets by individual salesmen which was used to develop the final mail list.

5) Fallon's Nov. 24, 1970 letter to Monsanto personnel translating his Nov. 25th letter to the customers. Attached to this are his rough notes composing these letters.

A copy of the July 19, 1970 IBM run "D1132-A" dated Aug. 13, 1970, J. R. Fallon, is located in the IBM run section of this warning letter files. It is believed that this is the run used for preparing the initial work sheets which the salesmen then reviewed and added their preposed addressee.

December 15, 1970

Dear Sir:

Again, I would like to ask for your cooperation in our effort to develope a low cost means of disposal of spent transformer askarel or capacitor Aroclor.

My recent letter requested the amount of liquid scrap material you expect to generate in 1971. We are now in the negotiation phase of this program and urgently need your input. We are asking the Rollins Purle Company to supply an industry quote for their incineration service.

Since we have a solution to liquid disposal our engineers are working on means for handling contaminated solid materials, i.e., insulation, rags, Fullers earth, failed capacitors, etc. We are designing a large kiln and accessory equipment for this purpose and plan to make it available to you.

With this thought in mind, I would also like to ask you to provide the amount and types of solid PCB contaminated materials you might wish to ship to Monsanto for disposal. This information will allow us to size the kiln.

Should you have no scrap, please let us have this information.

Many thanks for your help on this matter.

Cordially,

Randall Graham
Senior Fluids Specialist

February 1, 1971

Dear Sir:

In February, 1970, we advised you of the newspaper and magazine articles indicating that polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) have been discovered at some points in some marine, aquatic and wildlife environments. It was claimed that the PCBs found strongly resembled chlorinated biphenyls containing 54% and 60% chlorine by weight. The quantities detected are said to be in the parts per million and parts per billion categories.

Pydraul 312, Pydraul 135, Pydraul 230, Pydraul 540-A and Pydraul A-200 have been formulated with polychlorinated biphenyl. New formulations have been developed and tested to provide equal or superior performance. The new formulations will be designated Pydraul 312 A, Pydraul 135 A, Pydraul 230, Pydraul 540 B and Pydraul A-200-B. They are completely compatible with the old formulations and do not contain polychlorinated biphenyls.

During the next 60 days, as inventory is depleted in warehouses around the country, the new formulations will be shipped to fill your orders.

If we can be of further assistance or answer any questions you might have please contact your local representative or me in St. Louis.

Very truly yours,

C. L. Bradford

Subject: Capacitor Aroclor 1242 vs. MCS 1016

On August 6, 1970 we sent to you the proposed specifications for MCS 1016 along with copy of our specifications for Aroclor 1242, so that the typical properties of these fluids could be compared conveniently. The two fluids appear very similar.

You will recall that the purpose of MCS 1016 is to provide essentially the same characteristics as Aroclor 1242, except that higher chlorinated biphenyls have been removed, to help alleviate the PCB pollution problem.

Our goal remains to be in large scale production of MCS 1016 by July 1, 1971. Pursuant to changing to MCS 1016, we sent a drum of it to you for examination and capacitor life testing. Additional sample amounts can be made available, if needed.

Our laboratory has completed a capacitor life test study of these fluids, extending over a period of 3,200 hours and including exposure to voltage levels and temperatures considerably in excess of the conditions prescribed in the commercial acceptance tests for the fluorescent lamp ballast type capacitors used in our study. These capacitors were 2.0 microfarad units of the type rated at 580 volts AC, and required to withstand 1.5x580 = 870 volts at 70°C for 750 hours.

The severity of our test conditions is defined in the attached data. The results are essentially the same for both of the fluids and reflect excellent stability and capacitor life. While the number of capacitors tested was small (six Aroclor 1242 and five MCS 1016), the work was done under very carefully controlled conditions in our Research Laboratory.

EXHIBIT
WBP M-113

We have an extensive research program on materials for use in capacitor dielectric systems.

We would be most pleased to have you visit our laboratory to review not only MCS 1016 but also other work assigned to serve our mutual interests in capacitor dielectrics.

Our rather extensive new commercial facilities to produce MCS 1016 are being installed. As we are committed to the July 1, 1971 production date, please give us your findings and views from your testing work, at the earliest appropriate time.

Believing that you may like another copy of the specifications for MCS 1016 and Aroclor 1242, we are pleased to enclose them.

Best regards,

P. G. Benignus

DATE: May 9, 1973 CC:

SUBJECT: PCB Warning Letters, Dielectric

REFERENCE:

TO: Memo to File

On May 8, 1973, I reviewed the dielectric warning letters and the corresponding address list with Paul Benignus. The purpose was to verify the address list for these letters.

Tab No. 2, Feb. 18, 1970, Olson letter:

This letter went to all of our transformer Askarel customers. Apparently the letter went to both transformer and capacitor customers. The list included in the file appears complete, per Paul Benignus.

Tab No. 7, May 11, 1970, Olson Letter:

Benignus agrees with the list for this letter.

Tab No. 8, May 12, 1970, Olson Letter:

Benignus agrees with this list for this letter.

Tab 19, Sept. 28 - Oct. 12, 1970, Graham Letter:

Benignus believes Randy's list looks fairly complete for Randy's area of responsibility. Benignus however, does not know if other salesmen sent out similiar letters. Benignus suggests I check this question with Don Olson.

Tab No. 22, Dec. 15, 1970, Graham Letter:

Benignus believes that this letter was the result of Don Pogue's attempt to gain information on estimated amount of Askarel for incineration. Benignus suggests I check with Pogue on that possible mailing list.

Tab 34, Dec. 20, 1971, Bergen #1 Letter:

This letter was sent to the transformer and capacitor customers. A letter was written to companies were we had a personal name to contact.

Tab No. 35, Dec. 20, 1971, Bergen #2 Letter:

This letter was sent to transformer and capacitor customers were we did not have a name to write to. Many of these letters went to the Office of the President. The combined list of 34 and 35 appears to be complete for these customers according to Benignus

Tab No. 24, Feb. 18, 1971, Benignus Letter:

This went to all capacitor people only. Benignus is confident that this letter went to the people on his "1970 list of customers" which list he pulled out of his file cabinet on May 8, 1973. This list should be the same list as used for letter Tab No. 14, dated Aug. 6, 1970.

Tab No. 39, Feb. 4, 1972, Bergen Letter:

Benignus agrees the mailing list is correct.

Tab No. 40, Feb. 7, 1972, Gossage Letter:

Benignus agrees with the mailing list.

Tab No. 41, Feb. 28, 1972, Gossage Letter:

Benignus agrees with this list. These are people who bought transformer fluid of any quantity over a period of the few years preceeding 1972.

Note: Benignus commented that many of these letters were months in their making. He stated that it seemed to take forever to get a letter written and approved for mailing since each letter and each word was reviewed very carefully.

April 15, 1971

Dear Sir:

Over the past year or so we have written you several letters concerning polychlorinated biphenyls and have urged that care be taken to prevent the escape of hydraulic fluids containing PCBs into the environment. Certain Pydraul hydraulic fluids did contain PCBs, taking advantage of the excellent characteristics of that material for certain industrial applications. However, in view of the questions which have been raised concerning possible environmental effects, Monsanto launched a program to develop alternative products without using PCBs.

This is to inform you that our efforts to develop alternative hydraulic fluids for applications which cannot be completely confined have been successful. There are now no PCBs in any of our Pydraul fluids.

We appreciate your understanding over this past year. The reformulated products you are now using will give you equal or better performance than you previously had - and with no PCBs.

Very truly yours,

C. Larry Bradford

P. S. - Would you please circulate this letter to all departments in your operation that are concerned with hydraulic fluids and/or maintaining a clean environment.

Monsanto

Monsanto Company
800 N. Lindbergh Boulevard
St. Louis, Missouri 63166
Phone: (314) 694-1000

Gentlemen:

We are contacting your firm as a manufacturer of equipment which may contain one or more of the Therminol®FR series heat transfer fluids. Therminol®FR series includes Therminol® FR Lo-Temp, Therminol®FR-0 and Therminol®FR-1. As you are probably aware, the Therminol®FR series contains polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB) of various types.

As you are undoubtedly aware, the PCB concentration in our environment has increasingly come under the scrutiny of various governmental agencies and scientific laboratories. In some studies, certain PCBs have been found to be persistent, an environmental contaminant and, possibly, injurious to certain forms of bird, aquatic and animal life. Accordingly, it is very important that PCBs be kept out of the food chain.

Effective immediately, we are instituting a policy of restricting sales of the Therminol®FR series to existing heat transfer systems which are presently utilizing the Therminol®FR series and do not involve food or food related products. We would appreciate your discontinuing the use of the Therminol®FR series in any new equipment sales and discontinuing any recommendation of the Therminol®FR series in your literature. In accordance with this policy, the Therminol®FR series will no longer be available to your firm.

We would like to point out, however, that certain Monsanto products which are sold under the Therminol® trademark, namely, Therminol®55, 66, 77 and 88 do not contain PCBs and will continue to be available for new heat transfer systems as well as for replacements of existing systems. While these are not classified as fire-resistant, proper design, operation and maintenance and the use of appropriate protective devices should minimize any added fire risks. We would appreciate your continued use and recommendation of Therminol®55, 66, 77 and 88 in both new and existing systems.

Should you have any questions, please contact your local Monsanto representative or me.

Sincerely,

J J Roder

Mr. C. E. Mitchell
Purchasing Agent
Adamas Carbide Corp.
31000 Industrial Road
Livonia, Michigan 48150

Dear Mr. Mitchell:

This letter will confirm our telephone discussion on your use of Santovac 2 vacuum pump fluid.

As indicated on their labels, Santovac 1 and Santovac 2 contain polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) of various types. As you are aware, PCBs have increasingly come under the scrutiny of various governmental agencies and scientific laboratories. In some studies, certain PCBs have been found to be persistent, an environmental contaminant and possibly injurious to certain forms of bird, aquatic and animal life. Accordingly, it is important that PCBs be kept out of the food chain.

We want to remind your firm of the extreme care that must be taken by users of Santovac 1 and Santovac 2 fluids to prevent any entry into the environment through spills, leakage, use, disposal, vaporization or otherwise. Some specific applications where these fluids should definitely not be used are in vacuum systems involving food or food-related products, animal feeds, pharmaceutical products, packaging materials involving any of such items and buildings where any of these items are manufactured or stored.

If your vacuum system involves any of the mentioned applications, or if your system is such that entry into the environment cannot be prevented, you should replace Santovac 1 and 2 with non-PCB fluids immediately. Please contact your pump supplier for his recommended replacement product.

EXHIBIT
WBP M-116

Used Santovac 1 and 2 should be returned to Monsanto Company, W. G. Krummrich Plant, Sauget, Illinois 62201, Attention: Supervisor Dept. 246 for proper disposal. This service is performed at cost, which is $0.03 per pound.

Very truly yours,

R. E. Hatton

Monsanto

FROM (NAME & LOCATION): B2SF - P. W. Gann

DATE: May 4, 1973 CC:

SUBJECT: PCB Warning Letters

REFERENCE:

TO : Memo to File

The phone discussion with Glen Moore, May 3, 1973 as to his participation in the Sept. 27, 1971 Santovac letter.

He operated under the direction of Roger Hatton. The plan was to develop a Santovac customer list based upon IBM runs of two or three years back, call each customer (normally the purchasing agent, but in some cases he was referred to higher authority) and confirmed the calls by letter. The purpose of the call was to first, establish the application; secondly, alert the customer of the PCB issue with special emphasis on food and environmental relationships; and third, find out the maintenance procedure, and especially the customer's disposal procedure for spent fluid. Any customer having application directly or remotely concerned with food (i.e., vacuum coating of knives or vacuum processing of vaccines) or did not have an effective disposal procedure, was told that Monsanto would no longer sell Santovac I or II to the customer.

An effective disposal procedure: 1) Government approved - i.e., atomic energy land-fill procedure for radio active materials or California desert disposal pit were avoidance of water contamination was assured.

The confirming letter contained approved Monsanto policies statements, but was tailored to the individual customer. This project took Glen about three weeks to complete. His phone log and copy of letters were collected in a three ringed notebook and left with Dr. Hatton.

Dear Mr. McCall:

On September 30, 1971, Monsanto will be sending a letter out to all of our present Aroclor customers. The purpose of this letter is two-fold. First, it defines the differences between our old PCB-based Aroclors and our current non-PCB-based line of products. Second, this letter states clearly Monsanto's position on the use of these products in food or food-related applications, in potable water systems, in animal feed systems, and in pharmaceuticals. A copy of this letter is attached.

In light of the current situation with respect to PCBs, we believe that it is important to communicate this information to our customers. As our distributor, we expect you to send the same letter, or a similar letter, to each of your customers, keeping a record of the date sent. We would be happy to provide you with additional copies of our letter if you so desire.

If you have any questions on this subject, please give us a call.

Very respectfully,

ORGANIC CHEMICALS DIVISION

Monsanto Company

St. Louis, Missouri 63166
Phone: (314) 694-1000

September 30, 1971

Dear Sir:

As you may recall, on August 31, 1970, Monsanto terminated sales of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) as plasticizers and resin modifiers because it appeared that these products might be associated with some problems in the environment. Monsanto is now selling a line of non-PCB plasticizers under the same trade-name - Aroclor® - as was used in the past. This letter is intended to eliminate any confusion which might result from the fact that this trade-name has been used on both PCB and non-PCB products.

Our Aroclor® product line is now made up of polychlorinated terphenyls, monochlorinated biphenyl, and blends of these products. None of these materials has been shown to create any environmental problems. On the other hand, Food and Drug Administration approval has not been obtained for any of these products. Accordingly, the Aroclor® plasticizers should not be used in connection with food or food-related products, with food wrapping or food container materials. Further, Monsanto strongly recommends that these products not be used in any other application such as non-FDA regulated food systems, in potable water systems, in any animal feeding systems, or in pharmaceuticals.

Very respectfully,

W. E. Schalk

W. E. Schalk
Director of Sales

Dear Mr. Courtney:

This letter concerns the conversion of your heat transfer unit from Therminol FR to Therminol 55

Literature on Therminol 55 is enclosed. We are arranging for two drums of Therminol 55 to be sent to your attention at no charge. You should drain the Therminol FR from your system thoroughly -- this means removing all of the FR fluid. Therminol 55 can then be added and operation of the system resumed.

We would like to remind you that Therminol 55 is not classified as a fire resistant heat transfer fluid. Consequently, you may wish to consider the use of protective devices to minimize any added fire risks. We suggest that you consult with the insurer of your property relative to this matter.

Also enclosed are labels to be placed on the containers of drained FR fluid for return to the address shown. We will pay the return freight.

Your cooperation is appreciated.

Sincerely,

D. E. Reush

This product contains polychlorinated biphenyls, which some studies have shown may be an environmental contaminant. Extreme care should be taken to prevent any entry into the environment through spills, leakage, use, disposal, vaporization or otherwise.

CAUTION: Contains chlorinated hydrocarbons. Avoid prolonged breathing of vapors or mists. Avoid contact with eyes or prolonged contact with skin. If skin contact occurs, remove by washing with soap and water. Following eye contact flush with water. If clothing becomes soaked with fluid, launder before wearing again. 1063/53

Therminol® 55 is a low-cost synthetic heat transfer fluid developed for use in non-pressurized, indirect heating systems. Added to the extensive Monsanto line of heat transfer fluids to meet exacting needs, Therminol 55 demonstrates thermal stability superior to that of hydrocarbon oils of comparative cost.

System start-up at temperatures as low as 0°F. is possible, due to the low temperature viscosity characteristics of Therminol 55. It can be used at temperatures up to 600°F. At 550°F. and below, the fluid has extremely long life.

Therminol 55 systems should be blanketed with an inert atmosphere to minimize fluid oxidation. A system relief valve should also be provided.

Unlike the Therminol FR (fire-resistant) fluids, Therminol 55 can support combustion.

For detailed system information, contact your local Monsanto sales office, or write to: Monsanto Company, Functional Fluids, 800 N. Lindbergh Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63166.

Introducing Therminol® 66

Therminol® 66 is a heat transfer fluid for use in liquid phase between 0-650°F without system pressurization. The low pour point of this product permits start up at fluid temperatures as low as 0°F.

To minimize fluid oxidation, systems with Therminol 66 should be blanketed with an inert atmosphere. A system relief valve should also be provided. Therminol 66 is ideally suited to replace organic fluids that have lower boiling points and must operate under system pressure at 650°F.

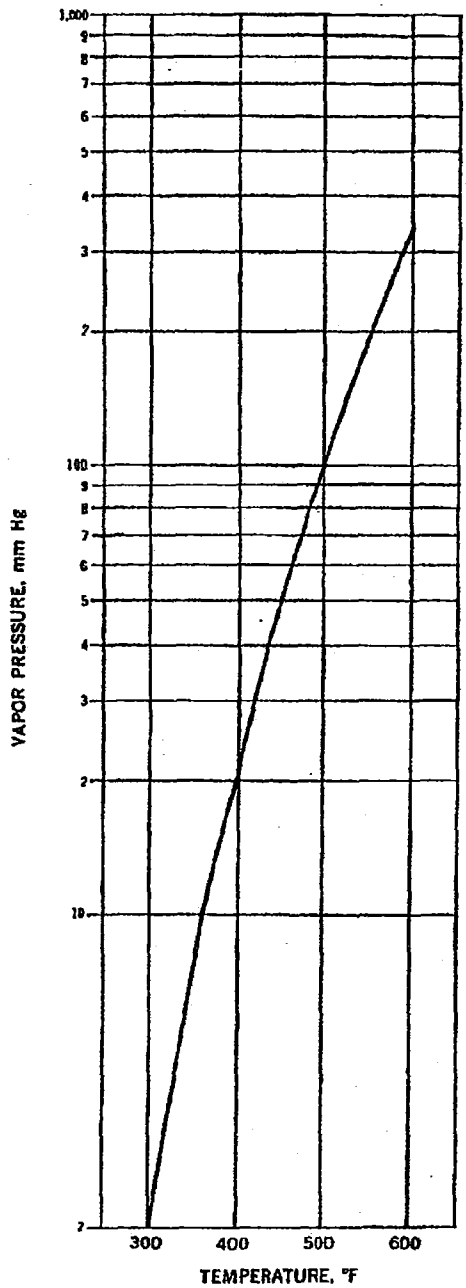

Therminol 66 can support combustion and should not be confused with Monsanto's Therminol FR fire-resistant fluids.

This was a form type letter sent to food-related customers who were still using Therminol FR fluids. This letter was a transmittal for fluid sent free of charge to the customer for conversion to either Therminol 55 or Therminol 66. This program initiated on July 17, 1971 and continued through December, 1971. There appears to be no formal mailing list for this letter, but customers would include those on the June 8, 1970 letter mailing and can be referenced to the Therminol FR approval list active at that time (referring to the not approved column). However, copies of the letters which were retained in Jim Roder's files during this period are now filed by customer in the conversion team file currently being retained in George Fague's office.

CUSTOMER'S NAME
ADDRESS

Dear _____;

As we have previously notified you by way of correspondence since early 1970, the material described on the attached acknowledgement of your order contains polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB). Polychlorinated biphenyls are highly stable chemical compounds and are not readily biodegradable. Therefore, when placed in the environment they may be considered contaminants and may adversely affect some species of animal and marine life.

You must take every precaution to prevent any entry of polychlorinated biphenyls into the environment through spills, usage, leakage, disposal, vaporization or otherwise.

This material should not be used by you or your customer in equipment, packaging materials or products involved in the processing, handling, or storage of food, food related products, animal feeds, food wrapping or container materials, potable waters or pharmaceuticals.

Very truly yours,

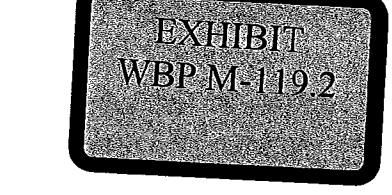

Howard S. Bergen, Jr.

Monsanto

MONSANTO INDUSTRIAL CHEMICALS CO.
800 N. Lindbergh Boulevard
St. Louis, Missouri 63166
Phone: (314) 694-1000

December 15, 1971

Dear Sir:

We are writing to advise you that, effective this date, Monsanto will no longer sell the Therminol® FR series of heat transfer fluids. This important decision by Monsanto's management has been carefully considered.

The Therminol® FR series of fluids contain polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs). As we have previously advised you, studies indicate PCBs may be accumulating in the environment. In some instances, PCBs have been found in food or in the food chain. An article by Carl G. Gustafson of the Federal Water Quality Administration appearing in "Environmental Science & Technology" and dealing with this subject is attached for your information.

Because of Monsanto's concern over this problem, we have discontinued sales of PCBs where the usage was in so-called "open systems." We have discontinued sales of Therminol® FR materials where the usage would be in food processing applications. In addition, we have encouraged Therminol® FR fluid customers to switch to other materials.

As a result of these efforts, many of our heat transfer fluid customers have switched from Therminol® FR series fluids to other materials or systems.

Our action in discontinuing sales for use in heat transfer systems has been taken because of the problems which may arise should there occur accidental leakage of PCBs from such systems. We believe this action is in the best interest of all our customers who have continued using these materials in heat transfer applications.

EXHIBIT
WBP M-120

In order to help you accomplish a change-over from Therminol® FR to another heat transfer fluid with the least difficulty, Monsanto will offer you the following special services:

1) We have assembled a team of experienced engineers who will be available to visit your plant on request to consult with you on available alternatives. Of course, the decision is and will be yours as to how you elect to proceed. If you consider such a service would be of assistance to you, please telephone (314) 694-2514, or write directly to Dr. Cumming Paton, Monsanto Company, P. O. Box 14617, St. Louis, Missouri 63178.

2) We will pay freight costs incurred in returning the Therminol® FR to us and will properly dispose of the material (by high temperature incineration) at our cost. We will contact you concerning instructions about drainage, drumming and shipping of material to our facility in St. Louis.

PCB's—prevalent and persistent

Intensified research is needed to minimize their dangers

Carl G. Gustafson, Federal Water Quality Administration, Athens, Ga.

During the past three years, a special class of compounds, called polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB's), has claimed the attention of ecologists and pesticide analysts in this country. These compounds were not discovered in the environment until 1966 in Sweden and 1967 in the U.S., despite the fact that they have been available commercially for 40 years. Interest in PCB's has arisen because they are frequently found in fish, bird, water, sediment, and other environmental samples when such samples are examined for chlorinated pesticide residues. That a wide variety of samples containing PCB's has been collected from England, Scandinavia, The Netherlands, Antarctica, Central America, and many different parts of the U.S. makes them truly ubiquitous pollutants.

Polychlorobiphenyls are made by substituting chlorine atoms for one or more of the hydrogen atoms at the numbered positions of the biphenyl structure.

In the process of replacing hydrogen atoms with chlorine atoms, a large number of substitution combinations arise. For example, three monochlorobiphenyl isomers are possible, 12 dichlorobiphenyl isomers, 21 trichlorobiphenyl isomers, and so on. Theoretically, 210 compounds can be prepared by this substitution process; a typical example would be 2,4,6,2'4'-pentachlorobiphenyl.

Whenever aromatic hydrocarbons such as biphenyls are chlorinated, the product is a mixture of compounds, including isomers. It is quite difficult to synthesize single, specific chlorobiphenyl compounds in the laboratory unless involved procedures are employed. Consequently few of the individual compounds have been prepared in the pure form for study.

In the commercial process for PCB manufacture, biphenyl is chlorinated with anhydrous chlorine in tall cylindrical towers with either iron filings or ferric chloride as the catalyst. The by-product is hydrogen chloride; the product is a mixture of several PCB's. The degree of chlorination is determined by measuring the specific gravity of the mixture or, when the product is more viscous, the ball-and-ring softening-point test is used. The whole process takes from 12 to 36 hours.

In the U.S., the sole manufacturer of PCB's is the Monsanto Co., which markets them under the trade name Aroclor. PCB's are also manufactured in Europe and Japan, under trade names such as Phenochlor and Clophen. The various Aroclors are differentiated by a four-digit number, with the last two digits indicating the percentage of chlorine in the mixture.

Properties

The three most important physical properties of the PCB's are low vapor pressures (they have high boiling points), low water solubility, and high dielectric constants. They are miscible with most organic solvents and compatible with many types of polymers. Although some individual polychlorobiphenyl compounds are crystalline, the Aroclor mixtures are either liquids or resins.

The chemical properties that make PCB's desirable industrial materials are their excellent thermal stability, their strong resistance to both acidic and basic hydrolysis, and their general inertness. They are quite resistant to oxidation. Monsanto reports, in a technical bulletin on PCB's, that they can be heated to 140° C. under 260 p.s.i. of oxygen pressure "without showing any evidence of oxidation as judged by development of acidity or formation of sludge."

The physiological properties of the PCB's make them potentially significant contaminants of the environment. For any pollutant, two factors are involved: acute toxicity, which is immediately evident because of a high death rate or other maiming effect; and chronic toxicity, which is the result of a slow accumulation of the poison in the body and is a sublethal effect. Whenever acute toxicity is high, a pollutant will be readily recognized and appropriate remedial actions will be introduced. If, on the other hand, acute toxicity is low,

The Monsanto Co. stated recently in a letter to Congressman William F. Ryan of New York that as of August 30, it would no longer sell PCB's to customers for use in general plasticizer operations where disposal of the end-products cannot be controlled. After some lag period—the time it takes to eventually dispose of the products made from PCB's and currently in processor's inventories—the quantity of PCB's getting into the environment may be substantially reduced. If Monsanto's former customers look for PCB substitutes, rather than purchasing PCB's from manufacturers in Japan and Europe, the projected decrease could become a reality.

the physiological effects will go unnoticed until the chronic effects make themselves evident. When this happens, the problem may have advanced beyond immediate or easy correction.

Acute toxicity

All studies of PCB's in animals indicate that acute toxicity is not a significant factor. Their acute toxicities are on the order of those of other chlorinated aromatic compounds. Monsanto has sponsored two investigations of the acute toxicities of Aroclor mixtures. In the first, at the Kettering Laboratory at the University of Cincinnati, Dr. J. F. Treon and his coworkers investigated the toxicity of Aroclor vapors for guinea pigs, mice, rabbits, and rats. All animals survived a 24-day exposure to 0.83 p.p.m. of Aroclor 1242 for 7 hours per day on 17 of those days. Even after more prolonged tests, there were no severe effects from Aroclor 1242. In the second investigation, still in process, three groups of beagles are fed Aroclor 1242, 1254, and 1260, respectively, at a rate of 100 p.p.m. in their diets. After three months no significant abnormalities have been noted.

Similar studies on fish have been performed in several laboratories. Dr. Richard Schoettger of the Sport Fisheries and Wildlife Fish-Pesticide Research Laboratory in Columbia, Mo., reports that 96 hour-TL_{50} toxicities of the Aroclors to trout range from 1.17 to 60 p.p.m. Compared to DDT, whose 96 hour-TL_{50} toxicity is 0.002 to 0.009 p.p.m. for trout, the PCB's have a relatively low acute toxicity. With the more sensitive bluegill, the 96 hour-TL_{50} for Aroclor 1248 is 0.278 p.p.m., while that of DDT is 0.008 p.p.m. Aroclor toxicities appear to be inversely proportional to the chlorine content of the mixture.

Shellfish, oysters, and shrimp are more sensitive to PCB's. Dr. Tom Duke, at the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries Pesticide Field Station, reports 100% mortality of juvenile pink shrimp exposed to 0.10 p.p.m. of Aroclor 1254 in water for 48 hours. This concentration of Aroclor 1254 will cause a 100% decrease in shell growth of oysters after 96 hours. To achieve the same effects with DDT in these experiments, only 0.0006 p.p.m. and 0.01 p.p.m., respectively, were required.

There is very little evidence that PCB's are toxic to insects. Studies to date show that they are less toxic than dieldrin or DDT. As with fish, their toxicity appears to be inversely proportional to the chlorine content of the mixture.

Based on the above data, it is understandable why the polychlorobiphenyls, commercially available for 40 years, have only recently attracted attention as toxic environmental contaminants.

Chronic toxicity

The chronic toxicities of PCB's present a more disturbing situation; several chronic effects have been observed. It was discovered, quite by accident, that PCB's have a toxic effect on chickens. Professor E. L. McCune and his coworkers at the University of Missouri found their chickens dying after they were placed in a feeding house, parts of which had been freshly painted with an epoxy paint. Careful investigation revealed that the toxic factor was Aroclor 1242, a binder in the paint. When Aroclor 1242 was fed to the chicks it produced the same characteristic effects as chick edema factor. McCune reported: "Gross pathology included hydropericardium, hydroperitonium, enlarged heart, liver, and kidneys, and hemorrhage of internal organs. Microscopically the kidneys showed marked tubular dilation and numerous casts."

Another chronic effect of PCB's is related in wildfowl. The accumulation of high concentrations of chlorinated hydrocarbons in birds resulted in disruption of normal breeding behavior and in the formation of thin-shelled eggs. A dramatic example of this effect has been observed in the case of the brown pelican. On the Anacapa Islands off the California coast, no young were hatched last year from 300 pairs of nesting birds. The shells of most eggs laid were so thin that a dent occurred when the egg was picked up.

There are two possible causes for the laying of thin-shelled eggs by wildfowl. One is a low calcium reserve in the bird; the other is the inability of the bird to deliver the needed calcium to its oviduct, where the eggshell is forming. The calcium level in the avian biosystem and the calcium reserve in the secondary bone structure or medullary bone, found only in female birds when they are breeding, are controlled by the hormone estrogen. A high estrogen level is associated with the formation of this calcium reserve. Chlorinated hydrocarbons, such as DDT, chlordane, dieldrin, and PCB's, activate enzymes in the liver which transform estrogen into a more water-soluble compound that is readily eliminated from the bird's body. This means that when estrogen levels are low, calcium reserves will also be low, and therefore very little calcium will be available for strong eggshell production. Dieldrin and PCB's are more effective than DDT in this type of enzyme-induction activity. Aroclor 1262 has an estradiol degrading potential four to five times that of p,p'-DDE or technical grade DDT.

MCL001109

The ability of the female bird to deliver calcium to her oviduct during the last 20 hours, when the eggshell is being formed, is related to the functioning of the enzyme carbonic anhydrase. When birds that have exhibited the ability to lay normal eggs are injected with a metabolite of DDT (DDE) just prior to the formation of the eggshell, they will lay thin-shelled eggs. This indicates that DDT also inhibits the activity of carbonic anhydrase, the enzyme that controls the flow of calcium from the blood stream of the bird into its oviduct.

Since dieldrin seems to have no effect on carbonic anhydrase, we may assume that neither do the PCB's. However, these compounds delay breeding time significantly. Many ornithologists feel that late breeding has a stronger influence on the reduction of bird populations than does the laying of thin-shelled eggs. If this is true, PCB's are a more potent threat than DDT to our declining bird populations, especially for predatory birds that accumulate fairly high levels of PCB's because they eat smaller animals that already have concentrated PCB's in their own tissues.

Other investigators have produced evidence to show that PCB's are similar to DDT in their activity. Dr. Joseph Street at Utah State University has shown that when PCB's accumulate in the liver, they induce microsomal enzyme activity by bringing about more rapid metabolism of drugs, insecticides, and other foreign compounds. He fed rats a diet containing 50 p.p.m. of Aroclor 1254 or Aroclor 1260. After 10 days on this diet, the test animals were administered hexobarbitol at a dose of 100 p.p.m. to induce sleep. In comparison with a control group, the sleeping time for these rats was reduced by 65 to 80%. Street also found that Aroclor, when fed at the same level, will reduce dieldrin storage in adipose tissue by 90 to 95%; increase aniline oxidation by 200 to 300%; and increase EPN detoxication by 430 to 470%. In addition, the PCB's cause activation of organothiophosphate compounds, which adversely affect the system. This latter effect counterbalances the detoxification of dieldrin.

Normally, when a substrate activates an enzyme, it is converted to a water-soluble form that will be eliminated from the system; however, this is not the case with PCB's. Because they remain in the system for prolonged periods of time, their enzyme induction activity is always present. In this way the normal concentration of important body chemicals may be lowered to the point of bringing about malfunctions in the system. For example, Street believes that the PCB's bring about steroid degradation, which can lead to altered endocrine relationships.

The chronic toxicity to man is as follows:

> Like the chlorinated naphthalenes, the chlorinated diphenyls have two distinct actions on the body, namely, a skin effect and a toxic action on the liver. The lesion produced in the liver is an acute yellow atrophy. This hepato-toxic action of the chlorinated diphenyls appears to be increased if there is exposure to carbon tetrachloride at the same time. The higher the chlorine content of the diphenyl compound, the more toxic it is liable to be. Oxides of chlorinated diphenyls are more toxic than the unoxidized materials.

MCL001110

The skin lesion is known as chloracne, and consists of small pimples and dark pigmentation of the exposed areas, initially. Later, comedones and pustules develop. In persons who have suffered systemic intoxication, the usual signs and symptoms are nausea, vomiting, loss of weight, jaundice, edema, and abdominal pain. Where the liver damage has been severe, the patient may pass into coma and die.

Sax, N. Irving, "Dangerous Properties of Industrial Materials," 3rd ed., Van Nostrand-Reinhold, New York, 1968.

The ubiquity of PCB's is related to the wide spectrum of applications that have been found for them. The largest single use of PCB's is related to their electrical properties—as coolant-insulation fluids in transformers. For this purpose the Aroclors are also sold under such trade names as Chlorextol (Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co.), Dykanol (Federal Pacific Electric Co.), Inerteen (Westinghouse Electric Co.), Noflamol (Wagner Electric Co.), Pyranol (General Electric Co.), and Therminol (Monsanto Co.).

Other uses of PCB's include formulation into ballasts for fluorescent fixtures; impregnation of cotton and asbestos for braided insulation of electrical wiring; a plasticizer in wire and cable coatings; capacitors and askarel-type transformers; and plasticizers of vinyl chloride polymer films. Because of their thermal stability and fire resistance, the PCB's also find application in high-pressure hydraulic fluids, specialized lubricants and gasket sealers, heat transfer agents, and machine tool cutting oils. Miscellaneous uses include: formulation into some epoxy paints; protective coatings for wood, metal, and concrete; adhesives; and in carbonless reproducing paper. One of the primary manufacturers of carbonless reproducing paper also sells Aroclors in an encapsulated form.

Generally the kinds of applications described above mean that the PCB's will be in many types of products that eventually find their way to the domestic market. When used in manufacture of ballasts for fluorescent fixtures they will be found in kitchens, bathrooms, stores, and offices throughout the country. Wherever office forms are used that do not use carbon paper, one may find PCB's formulated into the microcapsules of dye that comprise the reproducing layer of the business form. PCB's have also been found on the transparent receipts used in credit card charge forms. As plasticizers they can be expected to appear in many consumer plastics.

Gas chromatogram A is of a standard pesticide mixture, B is typical of Aroclor 1254, and A + B is the chromatogram of a 50 : 50 mixture of both. The concentration of Aroclor 1254 is approximately 10 times those of the pesticides in A, hence it is understandable why PCB's were not readily recognized in pesticide chromatograms. Gas chromatograph (Packard 7620) conditions: gas flow 80 ml./min. nitrogen; temperatures—oven, 210° C., inlet, 230° C., detector, 218° C.; Ni^{63} electron capture detector; 5' × ⅛" glass column packed with 8% SE-30 on Chromosorb Q 80–90 mesh.

Since the chronic toxicities are so significant, it becomes important to know just how extensively the PCB's are distributed in the ecosystem, and just how they find their way into the environment. Rainwater in England, brown seals off the coast of Scotland, white-tailed eagles in Sweden, cod in the Baltic Sea, mussels in The Netherlands, adelie penguin eggs in the Antarctica, brown pelican eggs in Panama, Arctic terns, shrimp in Florida, river water in Japan, waters in the Great Lakes, human hair, and human adipose tissue—samples of all these have been found to contain PCB's, thus making them a class of widely dispersed pollutants.

MCL001111

Readily absorbed

The properties of PCB's that make them industrially useful are the same properties that cause them to persist in the environment. These include thermal stability, resistance to oxidation and hydrolysis, solubility in a wide range of organic solvents, water insolubility, high dielectric constant, and compatibility with many types of macromolecules. Their resistance to oxidation and hydrolysis also makes PCB's more stable and persistent than DDT. Consequently, they could eventually accumulate to a higher concentration than DDT, especially if the use of DDT is sharply curtailed in the U.S.

The solubility of PCB's in nonpolar solvents explains why they are readily absorbed into fatty tissue and into the liver. Their resistance to oxidation or other types of chemical degradation explains their persistence in the environment and accumulation in animal tissue. The latter effect is enhanced both by their insolubility in water and solubility in organic solvents. Their chemical inertness and resistance to metabolism account for their low acute toxicity. But as they slowly build up in a living system their concentration approaches toxicity levels, at which point chronic effects make themselves evident.

It has been established that fish-eating birds will accumulate large concentrations of PCB's, as in the case of the white-tailed eagle, which has been found to have as much as 14,000 p.p.m. of PCB's. Peregrine falcons, taken off the coast of California, were found to have as much as 2000 p.p.m. in their lipid tissue. When shrimp were exposed to 10 p.p.b. of Aroclor 1254 for 48 hours, they accumulated 1300 p.p.b. of PCB's, which represents a 130-fold concentration in a very short time. Oysters, exposed to an identical concentration of Aroclor 1254 for 96 hours and then placed in PCB-free water for four days, still had a concentration of 33,000 p.p.b. of PCB's, which constitutes a 3300-fold concentration. This means that even though the concentrations of PCB's are in the parts-per-billion range in the environment, their high lipid solubility causes them to collect in fatty tissues of lower animals and marine life. Therefore, species at the top of a food chain will also accumulate PCB's in their bodies, particularly in their lipid tissue and liver, in much the same way as they accumulate DDT and other chlorinated pesticides.

Because of the low solubility of PCB's in water, when a solution or dispersion of them is discharged into a river or lake, they will accumulate on the sediment in relatively high concentrations. Subsequently, they will redissolve very slowly in the water as conditions change. Therefore, it will usually take a long time to flush out a contaminated area.

Accidental occurrence

The reason that PCB's have not been found in the ecosystem as extensively as DDT, and are not present in environmental samples at as high a concentration as DDT, is that PCB's find their way into the environment accidentally. DDT is deliberately spread because this is the only way its insecticidal properties can be utilized. PCB's are not intended to get into the environment, but they do because their unique chemical properties prevent them from being destroyed by our usual waste disposal methods. Thus, they inadvertently escape and become widely dispersed.

In Sweden, where the use of DDT has been banned, and where the main power source is hydroelectric, investigators find that the concentration of PCB's in the environment is as high as that of DDT.

There are several ways by which PCB's get into the ecosystem. One of these is by incineration. Products containing PCB's, such as carbonless reproducing paper in business forms, plastics (especially polymer film and sheeting that contain PCB's as plasticizers), spent ballasts from fluorescent light fixtures, and objects coated with PCB-formulated coatings, all find their way to the city dump or incinerator for burning. The PCB's do not burn but are vaporized. They are then carried into the atmosphere, where they collect on particulate matter and are subsequently returned to the surface of the earth, into the rivers, lakes, and oceans. In this way they become widely distributed throughout the global environment. Another source is probably land run-off from industrial wastes and dumps. A third source is the point of manufacture and the plants where PCB's are processed into other products. They can escape through the plant ventilation and exhaust systems into the atmosphere and through its waste treatment system into sewers or directly into waterways.

MCL001112
HARTOLDMON0002074

It is interesting to note that the incidence of PCB's in environmental samples is highest in industrialized and urbanized areas. Birds whose primary habitat is the San Francisco Bay area have a larger concentration of PCB's per unit of body weight than those located in Baja, Calif., which is completely rural. Aquatic life in the Archipelago of Stockholm, the most industrialized area of Sweden, were found to have a higher concentration of PCB's than fish samples taken from the western coast of Sweden, a less developed area. Sediment samples taken from southern portions of Lake Michigan have a higher concentration of PCB's than those from other parts of the lake.

Monsanto states that until a recent change in marketing policy (see inset, page B14), sales of Aroclors were increasing at the rate of 8% per year. While this increase does not seem significant, it may be important if the increased consumption was in consumer products and thus would find their way into our normal solid waste disposal systems. Such an occurrence would mean a definite increase of PCB residues in the environment, and therefore a marked increase in their chronic toxicity effects.

Detection

PCB's were not discovered in environmental samples until very recently for several reasons. First, as indicated above, they have not been deliberately distributed about the ecosystem. Secondly, because of their relatively low acute toxicities, their presence was not immediately evident. Finally, they are difficult to detect analytically.

The PCB's were first detected as interfering peaks in the gas chromatographic analysis (GC) of environmental samples being analyzed for chlorinated pesticide residues. When PCB's are present in a sample they give a pattern of several GC peaks, whose retention times are similar to those of dieldrin, DDT, DDE, aldrin, and heptachlor oxide. Because the peaks were not large or sharp, investigators tended to ignore them until S. Jensen, in Sweden, and R. Risebrough, at the University of California at Berkeley, identified them as corresponding to common constituents of environmental samples being analyzed for persistent pesticides.

The problem of the interferences of PCB's with the analysis of other chlorinated pesticides has been largely overcome by prior treatment of the sample. Several investigators have used column chromatography to separate PCB's from chlorinated pesticides. At a recent meeting, sponsored by the FWQA's National Water Quality Laboratory, Duluth, Minn., a general procedure was recommended for separation of PCB's from pesticides. In this procedure for biosamples, the sample is extracted with hexane as in regular pesticide analysis. It is then partitioned with acetonitrile to remove fats, the cleaned-up extract is passed through a Fluorisil column and then through a silicic acid column. Finally, the sample is analyzed by gas chromatography, with a chloride-specific detector. In this way the pesticides are retained on the silicic acid column for later elution and identification.

Research needs

To assess fully the significance of PCB's as environmental pollutants, additional research is needed. No one really knows the extent of the chronic effects of these chlorinated hydrocarbons. Some problems that need to be considered are:

- Although PCB's are known to accumulate in human organs we do not know at what concentration they will begin to exhibit toxic effects. Will these chronic effects be similar to those shown in animals—microsomal enzyme activity, calcium metabolism inhibition, and so on? What are other possible chronic effects?
- Which of the many PCB compounds in the commercially available mixtures are responsible for their toxicity? Can commercial PCB mixtures be modified to eliminate the toxic components? Pure samples are required to answer these questions. At the present time work is continuing at the FWQA's Southeast Water Laboratory to separate each of the Aroclor mixtures into its many components, and to identify each component.
- We need to know all the uses for the PCB's. What is the annual production of PCB's? Our knowledge of these facts is limited and needs to be expanded. These facts should be known if we are to accurately determine how they get into the environment, and take steps to prevent further environmental contamination by them.
- In view of the complexity of the isolation and accurate quantitative analysis of PCB's in chlorinated residues, a straightforward, unambiguous measurement of them needs to be developed.
- What is the fate of PCB's in natural waters? More needs to be known of their partition coefficients between bottom sediments and water. This is vital if we are to estimate how long it will take for a river bed to clean itself of contamination. It will also be useful when assessing the effects of PCB's on marine life that feed on the bottoms of lakes, rivers, and estuaries. We should also learn more about PCB solubility in water of various ionic strengths.
- Are present waste treatment systems adequate to handle PCB's? Do special measures need to be taken when PCB's are part of the waste effluent being treated?

By trying to get some of these answers now, we may find that we are in a position to control the escape of PCB's into the environment before additional damage is done. So frequently, action is taken only after it is evident that massive damage has resulted from a particular pollutant. In the case of the PCB's we may have an opportunity to resolve the situation before that happens.

EXHIBIT

E. New Refusals (Continued)

3. Hoffmeister Cabinets, Las Vegas, Nev. (1 gallon) Has enough FR to last forever.
4. Inmont Corp., Cincinnati, Ohio. Obtaining a competitive PCB product.
5. M&R Plastics, Maryland Heights, Mo. (1500 gallons) Has 4 new drums of FR on hand. Can go 3 years. Does not want to spend conversion dollars.
6. Moderncote Inc., New Castle, Ind. Used in heating rolls.
7. Stanley H. Holmes, Chicago, Ill. (50 gallons) FR in equipment sold to a customer; not convinced Holmes will notify customer.

F. New Delays

1. Graniteville Co., Graniteville, S. C. Delay conversion 1 year. Requested name of user to obtain a drum of FR.
2. Halo-Carbon Prod. Co., Hackensack, N. J. Delaying conversion over future years.

G. Major Complaints

1. Dexter - Midland, Waukegan, Ill. (volume ?). Upset over FR-1 discontinuation. First knowledge was 3/21/72 call by Conversion Team. Feels Monsanto should pay for replacement fluid.

3. Sea Train Lines (SS Manhattan), New York, N. Y. Ship in dry dock. Heating system removed. Will return available FR.
4. U.S. Government, NASA, Huntsville, Ala. May not return FR on hand.

J. Special Situations

1. Cargill Inc., Minneapolis, Minn. Signed survey letter and stated no use where food contamination could occur, but still use in a resin plant - conversion targeted May, 1972.
2. DeSoto, Chicago Heights, Ill. Major system leak. Needed more FR-1, bought some from Vapor Corp. in Chicago and some Aroclor 1242 from Japan (perhaps through Coastal Chemical Supply). Now anxious to convert.
3. General Tire, Toledo, Ohio. Plans to order 3000 gallons T-55 soon. Note: If delivery request is for April 15, 1972 or sooner, we will cause delay in converting.
4. Interplastic Corp., Minneapolis, Minn. 1971 conversion to T-55. Just had a "minor"(?) fire at a phthalic and T-55 leak.
5. McKesson Chemical (Divn Foremost), New Orbans, La. Bought FR only for resal. Has none on hand.
6. Reichhold Chemical, Chicago, Ill. Plant shut down and FR returned in 1970, but some FR may have gone to landfill.
7. Reynolds Metals, Richmond, Va. (Headquarters, Packaging Research) Developing corporate statement on FR heat transfer systems in packaging (aluminum cans and liners). FDA law appeared March 18, 1972 on Federal Register; giving food customers 30 days to convert if passed as is after the present 60-day appeal period.
8. Sav-A-Stop, Salem, Va. (Turco Case Washer). Not yet converted. Used seldom.

Monsanto

MONSANTO INDUSTRIAL CHEMICALS CO.
800 N. Lindbergh Boulevard
St. Louis, Missouri 63166
Phone: (314) 694-1000

We are writing to advise you that Monsanto has adopted certain restrictive policies with respect to its further sale and delivery of all polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB's) products used as dielectric fluids in transformers and capacitors including but not limited to those sold under tradenames such as Aroclor®, Inerteen®, Pyranol®, and under the generic term askarel.

Effective 15 January 1972 Monsanto will sell and deliver these products only to manufacturers of transformers or capacitors who have entered into agreement to indemnify and hold harmless Monsanto in the use of these products, and whose financial responsibility makes such agreements meaningful in Monsanto's opinion. Two copies of such an agreement are attached.

As we have previously advised you, studies indicate PCB's may be accumulating in the environment. In some instances, PCB's have been found in food or in the food chain. Because of Monsanto's concern over this problem, we are discontinuing sales of PCB's in all applications except as dielectric fluids for use in transformers and capacitors.

If you have any questions or if you wish to meet with representatives of Monsanto management relative to this agreement, please telephone (314) 694-2455, or write directly to Mr. H. S. Bergen, Monsanto Company, P. O. Box 14617, St. Louis, Missouri 63178. Otherwise, please have the attached two copies of the hold harmless

Approved for financial responsibility

We are writing to advise you that Monsanto has adopted certain restrictive policies with respect to its further sale and delivery of all polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB's) products used as dielectric fluids in transformers and capacitors including but not limited to those sold under tradenames such as Aroclor®, Inerteen®, Pyranol®, and under the generic term askarel.

Effective 15 January 1972 Monsanto will sell and deliver these products only to manufacturers of transformers or capacitors who have entered into agreement to indemnify and hold harmless Monsanto in the use of these products, and whose financial responsibility makes such agreements meaningful in Monsanto's opinion. Two copies of such an agreement are attached.

As we have previously advised you, studies indicate PCB's may be accumulating in the environment. In some instances, PCB's have been found in food or in the food chain. Because of Monsanto's concern over this problem, we are discontinuing sales of PCB's in all applications except as dielectric fluids for use in transformers and capacitors.

If you have any questions or if you wish to meet with representatives of Monsanto management relative to this agreement, please telephone (314) 694-2455, or write directly to Mr. H. S. Bergen, Monsanto Company, P. O. Box 14617, St. Louis, Missouri 63178. Otherwise, please have the attached two copies of the hold harmless

SPECIAL UNDERTAKING BY
PURCHASERS OF POLYCHLORINATED BIPHENYLS

Monsanto Company ("Monsanto") manufactures certain polychlorinated biphenyl products ("PCB's") which _____ _____ ("Buyer") desires to purchase. While Buyer desires to purchase PCB's because of certain desirable flame resistant and insulator properties, Buyer acknowledges that it is aware and has been advised by Monsanto that PCB's tend to persist in the environment; that care is required in their handling, possession, use and disposition; that tolerance limits have been or are being established for PCB's in various food products.

Monsanto has therefore adopted certain restrictive policies with respect to its further production, sale and delivery of PCB's, including the receipt of undertakings from its customers as set forth below, and Buyer is willing to agree to such undertakings with respect to sales and/or deliveries of PCB's by Monsanto to Buyer.

Accordingly, Buyer hereby covenants and agrees that, with respect to any and all PCB's sold or delivered by or on behalf of Monsanto to Buyer on or after the date hereof and in consideration of any such sale or delivery, Buyer shall defend, indemnify and hold harmless Monsanto, its present, past and future directors, officers, employes and agents, from and against any and all liabilities, claims, damages, penalties, actions, suits, losses, costs and expenses arising out of or in connection with the receipt, purchase, possession, handling, use, sale or disposition of such PCB's by, through or under Buyer, whether alone or in combination with other substances, including, without implied limitation, any contamination of or adverse effect on humans, marine and wildlife, food, animal feed or the environment by reason of such PCB's.

MCL001253

HARTOLDMON0002218

All existing contracts for the sale of PCB's by Monsanto to Buyer are hereby amended to contain the provisions set forth above.

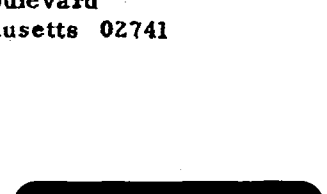

Nothing herein shall create or imply any duty or obligation of Monsanto to sell or deliver any PCB's to Buyer. No conditions, understandings or agreements purporting to modify or vary the terms hereof shall be binding unless hereafter made in writing specifically referring to this agreement and signed by the party to be bound and no modification or variance of the above undertaking shall be effected by the acknowledgment or acceptance of any sale document, purchase order, shipping instruction or other forms containing terms or conditions at variance herewith.

Monsanto

MONSANTO INDUSTRIAL CHEMICALS CO.
800 N. Lindbergh Boulevard
St. Louis, Missouri 63166
Phone: (314) 694-1000

December 31, 1971

Dear Sir:

We are writing to advise you that Monsanto has made the decision to cease the sale of polychlorinated terphenyls for use as plasticizers and for use in other open system applications effective March 31, 1972. These products have been sold by Monsanto under the trade name Aroclor®.

Normal volumes of our existing Aroclor product line may be purchased between now and March 31, 1972, however, no shipments will be made after that date. Sales during the last six months of 1971 will determine normal order quantities.

Monsanto is working to develop a list of suggested replacement products and suppliers to be used as a guide in replacing our Aroclor® products in existing formulations. This list may be obtained by contacting any of our regional offices whose addresses and telephone numbers are shown on the attached sheet.

Very truly yours,

W. E. Schalk
